HOOSIERY RAPS HOOPER FOR FAILURE; OUTLINES PLAN TO AID "MAN ON THE BOTTOM"

DAY'S ACCIDENTS COST TWO LIVES; BOY IS INJURED

Gertrude Mae Jackson and Doris Morgan Are Victims; Both Struck While Trying to Cross South Side Streets.

DRIVERS ABSOLVED BY WITNESSES

A. T. Robertson and C. B. Nunnally Held Blameless; Injuries to Boy Are Not Serious.

Two small schoolgirls were killed in automobile accidents and a little boy was severely injured Thursday afternoon as the children were attempting to cross streets alone.

The children were Gertrude Mae Jackson, 5-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Jackson, of 412 Central avenue; Doris Morgan, 8-year-old pupil of the Fair Street school, who resided with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Morgan, of 187 Hunter street, S. E., and Thomas Meeks, 8 years old, of 681 Windsor street.

Little Gertrude Mae was killed when she was struck by a car driven by A. T. Robertson, of 900 Dalney street, N. W. The accident occurred almost in front of her home at 4:30 o'clock. The child, who attended the Periwalt Kindergarten school, had just partaken of a meal with her mother and three other sisters and brothers and was on her way across the street to her home.

Mrs. Jackson became alarmed for her 5-year-old daughter and followed her out of the house almost in time to see her crushed beneath the wheels of the automobile. Robertson stopped immediately and put the child in his car to carry her to Grady hospital.

Doris Morgan was struck by a car said to have been driven by C. B. Nunnally, secretary and treasurer of the Nunnally & McCrea Manufacturing Co., as she attempted to cross the street at Grady on her way home from school.

Mr. Nunnally carried the child to Grady hospital in his automobile. She died within a few hours despite the efforts of physicians to save her life.

A case of reckless driving was made by police against Mr. Nunnally, and he was released under $1,000 bond. A formal charge of reckless driving will also be placed against Mr. Robertson, police said. He was absolved from blame by witnesses, who said the Jackson child ran from behind a parked car directly in front of his machine.

Little Thomas Meeks, the third child hit during the afternoon, was struck by a machine operated by Sergeant J. Medue, of Fort McPherson, according to police reports. Sergeant Medue carried the boy to the Fort hospital, where it was found he was suffering from severe cuts and bruises. This accident occurred at Georgia avenue and Cooper street shortly after 5 o'clock.

Funeral arrangements for Doris Morgan will be announced by Awtry & Lowmeyer. Arrangements for Gertrude Mae Jackson had not been completed Thursday night and will be announced later by Harry G. Poole.

SENATE APPROVES $5,000,000 FUND FOR TORNADO AID

Upper House Sets Limit of $5,000 on Advances for Individuals To Re- habilitate Victims.

WASHINGTON, April 7.—(AP)—The senate today voted, 40 to 17, to lend $5,000,000 of federal money to unfortunate residents of southern states recently smitten by terrific storms.

The resolution, sponsored by Senator Black, democrat, Alabama, now goes to the house. It authorizes the secretary of agriculture to lend up to $5,000 each to residents of the stricken areas of Alabama, Georgia, South Carolina and Kentucky to assist them in rehabilitation.

Favorable action followed three hours of debate during which Senator Norris, republican, Nebraska, refused to allow the issue to be put over to another day.

When newspapermen asked Senator Black why Tennessee was not included in his resolution, he replied that at the time it was drawn up it was not known any great damage had been done in that state.

Mississippi was eliminated from the benefits of the measure at the request of Senator Harrison, of that state, who explained it was affected but little by the tornado which struck on the night of March 21.

The resolution was vigorously opposed by a senator from one of the states which would benefit—Logan, of Kentucky. He asserted that Kentucky and the other states also are able "to take care of their own."

Sensors Bailey, of North Carolina, and Bulkeley, of Ohio, were the only other democrats opposing the measure. Logan remarked that residents of his state would "take this money gladly if we give it to them" and predicted they would raise considerable sums with him for opposing it, but held it "time to have courage to say to the states that they cannot come to the federal government every time they have a storm."

Senator Black denied his state is able to provide the needed relief. "If the legislature should be called into session," he said, "I think I can safely state that it would be practically impossible for them to do so."

BOARD MUST AIR INTERNAL STRIFE AT POOLE TRIAL

City Attorney Directs Evidence Showing Beavers Took Control Be Allowed at Hearing.

Attorneys Pooling Chief of Detectives A. Lamar Poole won the first spirited fight of the suspended officer's trial Thursday night when they were permitted to introduce testimony tending to show that since January, 1931, Chief of Police James L. Beavers, Poole's accuser, virtually has been in control of the detective department, Poole remaining only as a figurehead.

However, before the taking of testimony got under way before the police committee of city council, which is hearing the case, a defense demurrer was overruled and the detective chief ordered to stand trial.

The committee adjourned at 12:30 o'clock this morning until 6:30 o'clock tonight, at which time the hearing will be resumed with the prosecution still parading its witnesses. The defense asked that the 150 witnesses it has subpoenaed be present.

The defense won its point on a ruling by Assistant City Counselor Jack C. Savage, who is advising the committee, after Councilman G. Dan Bridges, the chairman, had overruled the contention. William Schley Howard, one of Poole's lawyers, had attempted to bring out the testimony through J. C. Simmons, a detective, who was appearing as a witness for the prosecution. On a plea from John L. Westmoreland, counsel for Beavers, Chairman Bridges said the testimony would not be permitted to continue his line of questioning.

Simmons was one of a number of witnesses called during the session, all of them being presented by the defense, which sought to prove Poole is guilty of neglect of duty, incompetence and other offenses.

Mr. Westmoreland again appeared for the chief of detectives' office. He said that the chief of detectives' office at one time to answer a call on the north side of the city while he was in the city, and that Beavers assumed complete charge of the department.

He said under questioning from Westmoreland that he never got any cooperation from Poole, but under cross-examination of William Schley Howard, chief of defense counsel, admitted he had never asked any and that he got all he ever asked for.

Howard put Simmons through a grueling line of questions, attempting to show that control of the detective bureau was wrested from Poole in January, 1931, and that Beavers assumed complete charge of the department.

Sims Is Given Death For Foster Slaying

Richard Sims, negro, the second of four surviving members of the young bandit gang which brought death to Detective Frank C. Foster several weeks ago, Thursday night was found guilty of murder and sentenced to die in the electric chair on May 12. The jury returned a verdict after deliberating only 30 minutes. The sentence was pronounced by Judge J. B. Hutchison, of Douglasville, who presided over the trial in Fulton superior court.

Mose White, the first member of the gang to go on trial, was convicted Wednesday and sentenced to death. Two others remain to be tried.

KEY VETES PLEA FOR RATE SLASHES

Transfer of Fund Also Is Given Disapproval of Chief Executive.

Mayor James L. Key Thursday vetoed two council measures which came from Monday's session—one calling on the city to demand a decrease in utility rates and the other transferring a $1,500 material and supply test fund from the office of the purchasing agent to the department of construction.

The mayor said the effort to press a reduction at this time might jeopardize the city's best interests in the future and that the purchasing department which makes all large purchases should have the knowledge which testing could give and that the services of Georgia Tech as the testing laboratory should be utilized.

Text of his veto message regarding the demand for lower utility rates follows:

"I am returning without approval resolution adopted at the last session of the general council, directing the legal department of the city of Atlanta to petition the public service commission against the Southern Bell Telephone Company, the Georgia Power Company and the Atlanta Gas Light Company, for lower rates."

"I have consulted with the city attorney with reference to this resolution and he advises that he knows of no facts which he could present to the commission and which have arisen since the last hearing accorded by the commission on similar matters."

Bipartisan Economy Group Plans Saturday Meeting

WASHINGTON, April 7.—(AP)—The bipartisan economy committee set up by the democratic house and President Hoover will meet at the White House Saturday in the first definite co-operative move to effect savings on ways of cutting costs with Secretaries Mills, Adams and Hurley. General Frank T. Hines, administrator of veterans' affairs, and James C. Roper, director of the budget, will be invited to the meeting.

There were indications that Mr. Hoover plans to submit specific recommendations for lack of which he has been flayed by democrats.

Wills, who called twice at the White House, said after his second visit that he had talked over with the president through government reorganization.

The treasury secretary and Hines visited the president at the same time. Hines was optimistic, recalling he had already proposed to the economy committee changes in law to save between $50,000,000 and $60,000,000. He added: "I feel sure we can make administrative changes without alteration of existing laws that will save many millions more."

Meanwhile house democratic leaders suffered a setback when the expenditure committee tabled 12 to 8, the Byrns bill to consolidate the army and navy into a department of national defense, expected by them to save $100,000,000 annually. Five democrats joined seven republicans in this vote.

JURY COMPLETED FOR HAWAII TRIAL IN 'HONOR' KILLING

Six Whites Included in Group; Two Alienists Appear Mysteriously on Honolulu Scene.

BY RUSSELL OWEN.
(Copyright, 1932, by The North American Newspaper Alliance, Inc.)

HONOLULU, April 7.—During the interval between today and Monday, when the trial of Mrs. Granville Fortescue, Lieutenant Thomas Massie and two navy enlisted men for the killing of Joseph Kahahawai, a native, will resume with the taking of testimony, the attorneys of both sides will be getting together the last threads of their cases and attempting to guess what the other side will do.

Two alienists have arrived mysteriously from San Francisco to aid the defense. Clarence Darrow shrugged his shoulders and laughed when he was asked what they were here for, and it is not known whether they will be asked to examine some of the defendants merely with the aim of determining the value of their testimony, or whether they will be asked to find fault with the prosecution, as there are no outstanding alienists in the islands.

The belief is at present that the plans of the defense do not necessarily include these alienists, but that they were brought here in case they will be found necessary. If they are used, they may offer a problem for the prosecution, as there are no outstanding alienists in the islands.

The jury which will hear the case was completed unexpectedly just before noon today and an adjournment was taken until next week.

The jury as it now stands is looked upon as intelligent as a group as could be obtained in the islands under the present system. It is largely white, with one part-Hawaiian, three Chinese and one Portuguese. Exactly half the jury is pure haole, or white.

George Duncan McIntyre, part Hawaian, Tahitian, French, Irish and Scotch mixed up in him and who speaks Japanese.

It was remarked later that seldom has a jury been formed so quickly and with so many haoles, which is a rather unexpected result. The fact that less than a hundred men were called also was surprising.

It seemed early in the day as though the defense would accept the jury as it stood, and a conference took place in the judge's chambers. Darrow decided to challenge a young Chinese, and that upset the apple-cart, for the state then began challenging.

In all, a large number of potential jurors went through the subsequent examinations.

Harmony Prevails. Astonishingly little acrimony has been shown in the case thus far, and both sides seem willing to meet each other half way. Prosecutor John C. Kelley and Darrow seem to understand each other perfectly. One of Kelley's opponents said today: "He is the most dangerous sort of prosecutor, because he is fair."

Nevertheless, there has been the keenest sort of competition between him and Darrow, who expressed himself at the close of today's session as completely satisfied with the jury.

There was a sudden outburst of opinions this morning among the jurors examined, and several were excused before George Duncan McIntyre was chosen. The prosecution then waived its first challenge of the day, and Darrow excused Kim Tai Lee, a well educated young Chinese. This proceeding prevented an immediate agreement, as the prosecution had

SENATE'S LEADERS UNITE IN EFFORT TO PASS TAX BILL

Chiefs of Both Parties Agree Passage With Minimum of Delay Is Essential to Nation.

WASHINGTON, April 7.—(AP)—Enactment of the billion-dollar tax bill with a minimum of delay today was declared the common objective of both republican and democratic senate leaders.

The democrats held a party conference and decided to support the measure. Soon afterward, Chairman Smoot, of the finance committee, speaking for the republicans, joined in the determination for prompt action.

The democrats reached no agreement on the raging controversy over inclusion of new tariff duties in the tax bill but one obstacle was removed when the sales levy, rejected by the house, was ignored.

Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, the party leader, said: "No proposal was made in the conference to revive the sales tax. Apparently the action of the house on the subject is regarded as conclusive."

Late in the day Senator Harrison, ranking democrat on the finance committee, and Senator Smoot both took occasion to issue formal statements. There is some restlessness over continued stock market declines.

No Unnecessary Delay. Senator Harrison said: "There will be no unnecessary delay in the consideration of the tax bill. The finance committee has set the time for the bill to be reported out as early as possible after that date."

"We hope to finish hearings by April 22 and the bill will be reported out as early as possible after that date."

"There will, of course, be differences of view as to the details but I have not the slightest doubt but that the bill, when whipped into final form, will balance the budget and give confidence in the preservation of government securities and government credit."

Senator Smoot said: "The finance committee wants all individuals desiring to be heard on the tax bill to be here as soon as possible. We want no delay in the hearings and we want no delay in its reaching the senate. It is the hope of the senate."

COUNTRY IS FACING GRAVE EMERGENCY EXECUTIVE AVERS

Restoration of Farmers' Buying Power, Aid for Banks, Home Owners and Revision of Tariff Policy Urged.

BUILDING ASSAILED AS RELIEF MEASURE

Government Should Provide Assistance to 'Little Fellow,' Declares N. Y. Governor.

ALBANY, N. Y., April 7.—(AP)—Governor Roosevelt, leading candidate for the democratic nomination for the presidency, tonight criticized the Hoover plan for relieving the depression and himself outlined a program that would reach "the forgotten man at the bottom of the economic pyramid."

Mr. Roosevelt said in a radio address the first thought should be the restoration of the farmers' buying power, relief to the small banks and home owners and a reconstructed tariff policy.

"They seem to be beyond the concern of a national administration which can think in terms only of the top of the social and economic structure," he added. "They have sought temporary relief from the top down rather than permanent relief from the bottom up."

Several times within the past six months Governor Roosevelt has criticized the administration's attitude toward the distress of the country and its projects for alleviating it. But tonight was the first time Roosevelt has directly referred to Mr. Hoover. He did that in discussing the reconstruction set-up.

Little Fellow in Need. "The $2,000,000,000 fund which President Hoover and the congress have put at the disposal of the big banks, the railroads and the corporations is not for the farmer and small home-owner," the governor asserted. The government, he continued, should provide as much assistance "to the little fellow as it is now giving to the large banks and corporations."

Mr. Roosevelt spoke from his study in the executive mansion. In his opening sentences he asked that the present national situation be not viewed "through partisan eyes for partisan purposes."

"In my calm judgment, the nation

Malicious, False Rumors Spread In French Attack on U. S. Dollar

BY WALLACE CARROLL.
PARIS, April 7.—(UP)—A new and more violent attack on the American dollar was launched today in Paris.

As a result of the anti-dollar campaign, the dollar sagged in late trading to 25.32 francs, below the gold point, although it was significant that it previously had closed officially at 25.35.

The campaign was climaxed by an article in the newspaper L'Ordre, owned by the French steel interests, which contended that a large American bank had ceased payments. The article was false and considered usually as a mere attempt to create a panic among the French people.

The Paris branch of the bank in question appealed to the United States embassy, asking that the state department be notified. The attention of Premier Andre Tardieu, also was called to the article.

Nevertheless, afternoon newspapers published rumors that three large New York banks were in difficulties. The anti-American newspaper Journal Des Debats asserted that the decline of the dollar foreboded "an immediate gold embargo," which would mean abandonment of the gold standard in the United States.

At the same time the Journal Du Commerce devoted its entire front page to articles disparaging to the United States, particularly in connection with American reaction to the economic and financial crisis.

Their inordinate pride, their ignorance of the outside world has led the people of the United States to a fatal position, in which their prosperity depends upon the rest of the world, whereas they formerly believed that the prosperity of the rest of the world depended upon the United States.

The anti-dollar campaign was perhaps more violent and more widespread than at any other time since last summer's financial crisis, which later led to a series of attacks on American currency throughout Europe.

It was the first time that obviously false and misleading statements had been published as facts and also was believed to be the first time American interests had been led to appeal to governmental authorities against such misstatements.

Workers Need 484 New Members To Reach Goal in Y.M.C.A. Drive

With 48 new members reported up to Thursday night, workers in the Y. M. C. A.'s campaign for 900 new members today face the Herculean task of securing 416 additional memberships if the drive is to be successful.

The campaign will come to a close at 6:30 o'clock tonight with a report being made at the Central Y. M. C. A. on Luckie street. This will be the fourth day in the solicitation of new members.

Division D, headed by Joseph M. Tull, managed to cling to the lead in the drive through Thursday, leading Division E, headed by Lawrence Willet, by a bare point. In the race in which the 35 teams are represented by 35 tin automobiles on a miniature race track in the "Y" gym, Division D advanced its cars a total of 2,870 miles up to Thursday night.

Flashing swiftly from behind, Division E, the middle division of the campaign, advanced its cars 2,878 miles. Division E is composed entirely of small boys and high school boys, and his enthusiastic group served notice Thursday night's report supper that it was going out today to take the lead and the final division victory was from Division D.

Third place in the division race was held by Division B, headed by C. F. Stone, with a total of 2,441 miles; fourth place went to Division C, headed by Lawrence McNulough, with 2,374 miles, and fifth place was held by Division A, Fred J. Coolege Jr., chairman, with 1,727 miles. The team commanded by Captain John Outley, which has held first place throughout the drive, Thursday increased its lead. At this report meeting Thursday it had a total of 1,290 miles. Second place went to Captain George Gardner's team with 700 miles. Third place was held by Captain John R. Byrns' team with 714 miles; Captain Floyd Field's team was fourth with 615 miles and Captain J. Walter McCraw's team dropped to fifth place with 578 miles. A total of 35 teams are engaged in the race.

Workers Need 484 New Members To Reach Goal in Y.M.C.A. Drive

General Chairman Charles M. Marshall Thursday night issued a stirring appeal to the 250 workers in the campaign to take the field today determined to put the drive for 900 new members over the top.

"It can be done," he declared. "Thursday's work has been a tremendous success. If you fellows get out and work Friday, there is no reason why the 'Y' cannot be put back on a self-sustaining basis, and a tremendous service to Atlanta."

Important notice to the press—politicker is at last a national dish. It enters the dining room of the United States senate next Monday pursuant to arrangement upon the arrival of turnips and turnip greens from Louisiana. Fat, salt meat can be found here. Corn pone to accompany the delightful product also will be made. The only serious stride thus far made in the capitol during this session is the entry of politicker to the capitol.

LEGION HEAD DEFENDS STAND AGAINST BONUS

Would Reduce Compensation and Rob Needy, Says Stevens in Florida.

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., April 7.—(P)—American Legionnaires were warned today by their national commander, Henry L. Stevens, that passage of the veterans' bonus bill pending in congress probably would result in reduction of compensation now received by disabled service men.

Stevens, en route to the Florida Legion convention at Miami, was interviewed here by an answered veterans who have criticized his indorsement of President Hoover's stand against pending bonus bill.

The national convention in Detroit, he said, went on record as not asking for immediate cash payment of the bonus. "That," he continued, "is a mandate from the supreme authority. It's not a question of standing behind Hoover. It's a question of living up to the mandate of the national convention which was enacted by the duly elected delegates representing all men and women of the Legion."

"The national commander and all the posts are bound by the national convention. . . . Regardless of what my personal opinion is, I'd be bound to live up to the convention vote."

"In my opinion passage of the bonus bill at this time unquestionably would bring about considerable reduction by congress in the compensation now received by disabled service men, and a disabled service man indulging it is doing something calculated to harm himself."

Referring to the Legion convention's stand in favor of legislation for the protection, care and maintenance of widows and orphans of veterans, Stevens declared "helpless women and children should come first," irrespective of economic conditions. He placed in the same class the Legion's efforts for additional hospitalization for sick and disabled service men.

President Hoover recently said he would veto the bonus bill if it passed congress, and Stevens told him the Legion indorsed his attitude.

NEW YORK POST BACKS

STATEMENT BY STEVENS

NEW YORK, April 6.—(P)—Discontinuation of all attempts by representatives of the American Legion "to coerce congress to vote additional billions and special privileges" was demanded by the Willard Straight post of New York today in a telegram to Henry L. Stevens Jr., national commander of the Legion.

The telegram, made public by Hugh Gallaher, commander of the post, indorsed Stevens' stand against immediate payment of the bonus and charged the Legion with political maneuvering at the expense of the survivors of soldiers killed in the war.

STEVENS' STAND DRAWS

PROTEST IN OKLAHOMA

OKLAHOMA CITY, April 7.—(P)—Oklahoma American Legion officials are leading a move for a meeting of the national executive committee at Indianapolis April 15 in protest against a statement of Henry L. Stevens, national commander, that the Legion supports President Hoover's position against bonus legislation. Taking issue with the national commander's statement, state Legion officers last night messaged 22 departmental commanders, asking that they join in a call for the meeting.

GHOST OF VILLA
STALKS IN SUIT
OVER GOLD HOARD

LOS ANGELES, April 7.—(P)—The ghost of Pancho Villa, notorious Mexican bandit, and his ill-gotten gold stalked through a municipal courtroom today in trial of a civil suit revealing all the elements of a light opera situation.

J. F. Catalina, alleged he was employed as a civil engineer to locate from a map a spot where Villa was reported to have buried 2,200 gold bars, weighing 70 pounds each. He said he was promised $250 a month and expenses by Guy Ansapach and Joseph Maier, whom he is suing for $1,100 back pay.

Catalina said he located the spot, near Rosario, Mexico, and after fruitless digging, returned to Los Angeles for a radio metal detector. The detector failed and even a force of Mexican soldiers who aided the digging on promise of 10 per cent of the gold found, could not locate the reported treasure, he said.

Ansapach and Maier were to put on their defense today. Maier has claimed the engineer was employed for a period of only six weeks and was paid in full.

S. A. OZBURN FUNERAL IS SET FOR TODAY

Funeral services for Samuel A. Ozburn, 55, well-known real estate man and investment broker, who died Wednesday night at his residence, 22 Brighton road, will be held at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon at the Spring Hill chapel of H. M. Patterson & Son. The Rev. John M. Walker will officiate, and interment will be in Oakland cemetery. A native of Atlanta, Mr. Ozburn had lived here all his life. He is survived by his wife; one daughter, Mrs. Howard Candler Jr.; two sisters and one brother.

LONG WOULD BOLSTER ANTI-TRUST LAWS

WASHINGTON, April 7.—(P)—Legislation to strengthen the anti-trust laws by preventing the application of "the rule of reason" to them was prepared for introduction today by Senator Long, democrat, Louisiana. In a statement explaining his bill, Long said decisions by the supreme court had "practically nullified" the Sherman anti-trust law by applying the rule of reason and that as a result "the little businesses of this country have been wrecked in the last few years."

Red Cross Plans To Distribute Flour to Needy Here in Few Days

Sixty thousand 24-pound bags of flour, Atlanta's share of the 40,000,000 bushels of wheat given the Red Cross by congress for distribution to the needy, will be ready for distribution within a few days, according to Joe L. McMillin, Atlanta chairman for the flour distribution committee of the Red Cross. The wheat is now in transit and will be received by the Atlanta Milling Company for grinding.

The wheat was requisitioned after various relief agencies had made a complete survey of needy families here and represents a three-month supply for Atlanta's unemployed.

Mr. McMillin said that Rogers, Inc., had agreed to distribute the flour to the needy and that the various relief agencies would direct the distribution. Persons wishing to receive the flour must go to one of the relief agencies and make application, which, if approved, will be turned over to Rogers for delivery. Information from Washington Thursday said that every state in the Union, except Delaware, had received or been promised some of the flour and that requests already filled and allowed had accounted for one-third of the flour. Pennsylvania has received more than any other state—179,229 barrels. Each community requesting the wheat is given a 90-day supply.

Sandwich Meats.
It was not the Earl of Sandwich who lived about a hundred years ago who originated the now famous sandwich, but one of his great-grandfathers. Though historians may contest this story vigorously, I am inclined to believe it.

The Earl lived in "Ye Merrie England" where his descendants still live. He was round, fat and red-cheeked and loved a thick cut jelly steak. Being a clubby sort of person he kept extremely busy with tournaments, round table politics and his horses and hounds. One fine spring day, so the story goes, the Earl had just ridden home from London town, and his usual appetite was heartier than ever. When he sat down at the table he found his course dinner was not ready to be served. The poor hungry Earl could wait no longer. "Bring on the meat," he shouted in a most noble voice. It was brought to him on a platter. "Bring on the bread," was his next command. Accordingly a great loaf of white bread was brought to him, then slowly and ever so grandly—his wife, servants and all the tenants looking on—he drew his sword from the scabbard and slit the loaf from end to end, inserted the beloved steak, pressed it all closely together and took a huge bite.

Whether or not the legendary tale of the Earl of Sandwich is true, the idea has come down to us through generations and we serve the sandwich on almost every occasion that does not call for a full course dinner. For informal dining, sandwiches are in perfect keeping with American living as well as fulfilling all diet requirements. They offer further advantages in their ease of preparation —their simplicity of service, their appeal to the eye, and their universal popularity. It is no wonder that many hostesses are more and more placing them foremost on many menus.

Contrasts are essential both in flavor and texture. If you use a bland filling such as tuna fish, accent it with chopped pickles or chowchow. For smoked meats, mustard is good, but not the only contrast available. Try a slice of tart jelly, or a spoonful of highly seasoned cole slaw. The necessary crunchiness in sandwiches is captured by using bits of crisp bacon, nuts, crisp lettuce or cucumber slices. Toasted bread or crusts serve very much the same purpose.

All meal sandwiches fall into two groups—large plates of assorted sandwiches and especially prepared and garnished individual servings.

The infinite selection of fillings allows the hostess to improvise from her emergency shelf or from leftovers in the refrigerator. A half cup of minced chicken becomes luncheon for four when it is combined with a half cup each of lima, grated corn, garden peas and tomatoes. Season well and serve hot between slices of golden brown toast.

Slices of cold meat reheated in their gravy or in melted currant jelly and served between slices of whole wheat toast are delicious. Perhaps the oldest full meal sandwich is egg Benedict. A slice of ham is placed on a toasted English muffin, a poached egg on the ham and Hollandaise sauce poured over all. Creamed meats and fish, sautéed sardines, hot roast beef may be excellent basis for hot sandwiches.

In the cold sandwich group, there are for fillings, meat and fish salad, fruit and cream cheese. Many an excellent filling comes already prepared, but even then an observant hostess adds a bit of seasoning to give an individual flavor.

In planning sandwich meals, any lack of variety in the sandwich can be easily adjusted by the first and last course. At luncheon your meal is complete with a sandwich, and dessert, but dinner is made a little more festive by adding a cocktail, or soup or a preliminary course. Tomato juice added to chicken broth and served hot or cold is colorful as well as tasty. Cream soups easily made with prepared purees are a happy choice. While there is no danger of forgetting the tomato juice cocktail, we might remind you that fruit or vegetable juice is a good thirst quencher and should be served often. Almost any of your favorite desserts will fit nicely in a sandwich meal. Gelatine, tapioca, cream, sliced fruit and ice cream supplement delightfully the main course sandwich.

And while we are on the subject of sandwiches, I must say a word about breads and their importance in making sandwiches. To make a successful sandwich you must be sure to choose really good bread—bread that has a close firm, smooth texture so that it will be sure to hold the filling. The firmer the texture bread, the prettier sandwich it will make, too. One of the reasons that a sandwich is "a meal in itself" is because it takes bread to make a sandwich, and bread is one of the most substantial and nearest perfect foods. There are so many different kinds of breads. Besides white bread there are brown bread, nut bread, whole wheat breads, raisin breads, salt rising breads and rye

Guests wrecked her table linen
...but she knew CLOROX would remove the stains

FORTUNATE is the woman who knows about Clorox! She can see her white cottons and linens soiled and stained—and still smile. For Clorox, in the soaking suds or first rinse, makes laundry snowy-white and banishes ordinary stains. A special treatment with a slightly stronger solution removes the most stubborn stains—beverage, fruit, ink, medicine—even scorched spots and mildew!

Clorox is equally priceless in kitchen and bathroom, for wherever it is used to bleach, remove stains or destroy odors, there too it disinfects. These and many other uses are described on the label.

bread—all of which make delicious sandwiches. Sharp bread knives, spatulas, tooth-picks and a board are almost essential in sandwich making. Certain types of sandwiches may be made in the morning for a cold supper or a late supper, if you wrap them in a damp cloth or place them in a hydrator.

Soften 1-2 cup of cream cheese and add 1-2 cup chopped pecan nuts and 1-2 cup crushed pineapple. Cut thin slices of bread and spread half the slices with butter and the remaining slices with the cheese mixture and make into sandwiches.

Prunes and Nut Sandwiches.
Rub 1 cup cooked pitted prunes through a sieve and add a pinch of salt, then stir in 1-3 cup chopped walnut meats and the juice of 1-2 lemons. Spread on thin slices of bread that have previously been buttered and a little mayonnaise.

Chicken Salad Ribbon Sandwich.
Remove the crusts from a whole loaf of bread and cut the loaf lengthwise into four thick slices. Spread creamed butter on the upper side of the bottom slice, then cover with chicken salad. Butter second slice and cover with finely shredded lettuce and chopped bread and butter pickles moistened with mayonnaise—then place on top of the first slice.

Spread the third slice with butter and cover with a mixture of chopped hard cooked eggs, pimientos and relish bread. Place on the second slice. Butter top slice and place on top of other one—butter side up. Fold in a loaf in a damp napkin and put in a bread pan. Put bread board on top and let stand for 15 minutes. When ready, to serve place the loaf on serving dish and cover entirely with cream cheese, softened with cream until smooth. Sprinkle generously with chopped nuts—fine enough that the loaf may be easily sliced. The cream cheese may be colored if desired.

Club Sandwich.
To make each sandwich, place a slice of the white meat of chicken on a slice of toast. On this lay a slice of crisply broiled hot bacon, a lettuce leaf and a slice of tomato. Add a spoon of mayonnaise. Repeat with another layer of chicken, toast, bacon, lettuce, tomato and another spoon of mayonnaise. Cover with another slice of hot toast and serve at once garnished with pickles.

Mixed Bacon Sandwiches.
Mince 24 slices of crisp bacon and mix with 3 tablespoons of cream mayonnaise. Spread between thin slices of rye bread or toast, buttered. A slice of lettuce may be added to each sandwich if desired.

Shrimp Sandwiches.
To 1 lb. of minced shrimp, add two tablespoons mayonnaise and two tablespoons minced green peppers. Spread on buttered slices of bread. Crab meat may be used in the same way.

Salmon Sandwiches.
Mix one cup flaked boiled or canned salmon with 2 tablespoons mayonnaise and 2 tablespoons minced green peppers. Spread on buttered slices of bread. Crab meat may be used in the same way.

Don't let them count you out!

Better still—why not bring out the hidden beauty in your skin

'I am so happy my skin is now clear'

You, too, may have a clear, smooth skin

"When old friends neglected me... and new friends were harder to make... I had sense enough to know something had to be done to clear up my skin."

"Happily, I heard about S.S.S. and put it to the test. It was not long before I could see an improvement now I am simply overjoyed—I not only have a clear skin, but my system is strengthened, too, and again I mingle with my friends and associates with confidence."

Beneficial results come from within

Medical authorities say that skin troubles commonly manifest themselves when the system is in a weakened and "run-down" condition... that the skin must have resistance from within.

In a large degree this resistance is measured by the hemoglobin content of the blood and the number of rich, red-cells it contains. They are the workers that carry nourishment and oxygen throughout the body... also they remove the poisonous carbon dioxide. Upon their strength and number largely depends the body's vitality... its resistance against infection and disease.

When these precious red-blood-cells are lowered in number, due to overwork, worry, colds, sickness, or dietary neglect, the system suffers... usually lowered blood count is symptomatic of quick fatigue, lack of appetite, pimples, boils, paleness, or other evidences of a "run-down" condition. Dangerous consequences often follow the neglect of a lowered blood count.

S.S.S. gives New Strength
If you require a tonic you should by all means try S.S.S.—this long established medicine acts by stimulating the secretions of the stomach... reviving the appetite... aiding digestion... regenerating hemoglobin... restoring the red-blood-cells—and builds greater resistance against infection and disease.

S.S.S. helpfulness is illustrated by this fact—our records show that nearly one-half of those who have taken it, for the first time, do so upon the recommendation of some friend who has been benefited. Can there be any stronger recommendation for its merit and usefulness than this?

A distinctive thing about S.S.S. is that it is made from fresh roots, barks and herbs... it is readily absorbed by the system. Another thing is that its efficiency has been proved by scientific tests and by its use for more than 100 years. It is a safe Tonic to take.

S.S.S. is an economical way to health. Try it yourself. Get S.S.S. from any drug store. In two sizes: regular and double—the latter is more economical and is sufficient for a two weeks' treatment. It may be the means of bringing better health and happiness to you.

Repossession Costly For Finance Agent

MIAMI, Fla., April 7.—(AP)—R. S. Torr, of Jacksonville, representative of an automobile finance company, was found guilty of larceny of an automobile today after a criminal court jury heard evidence in connection with charges that he unlawfully repossessed the machine. The automobile was purchased by J. L. Baxter, Coral Gables, who testified it was repossessed after he had concluded paying for it, but before he paid a $5 service charge on it.

Torr testified the car was seized because money due on contract was unpaid. Sentence was deferred pending filing of an appeal.

For one cup of fish add one hard cooked egg mashed fine, 1 cup mayonnaise and a few drops Worcestershire sauce. Butter bread and fill generously. Cream may be substituted for the egg.

Egg and Pickle Sandwich.
Chop hard cooked eggs and sweet pickles. Moisten to spreading consistency with Thousand Island dressing and spread between thin slices of bread.

Sandwich Supreme.
Mix one tablespoon finely chopped almonds into 1-2 pound Roquefort cheese, blended smoothly with two tablespoons of mayonnaise. Add a few drops of Worcestershire sauce if desired. Use buttered bread and fill or leave sandwich open and sprinkle with nuts.

Banana and Peanut Butter Sandwich.

Spread creamed butter on half the slices of bread and peanut butter on the others. On each of the latter slices place a leaf of crisp lettuce and cover with sliced bananas. Spread with mayonnaise, add a dash of salt and nut sandwiches together.

Banana and Cottage Cheese.

Crush one large banana with 1-2 cup of cottage cheese and 6 stuffed olives chopped fine. Salt to taste.

Place with lettuce leaves between slices of buttered bread.

Banana and Chopped Peanuts.

Mix 1-2 cup chopped salted peanuts and 1-2 crushed bananas. Spread mixture between buttered slices of bread—either whole wheat or white. A little mayonnaise may be added.

Banana, Raisin and Nut

Mix 1-2 cup raisins, 1-2 cup chopped nuts and 1-2 crushed bananas. Salt to taste. Butter bread, fill slices of bread—spread mixture on others and press together.

Anchovy Sandwiches.

Pound the anchovies to a paste and mix with equal quantities of olive stoned and finely chopped. Serve on very thin slices of bread cut small.

Surprise Sandwiches.

Take orange marmalade, pecan nuts and cream cheese in equal quantities and after mixing thoroughly, spread on thin slices of buttered bread.

Egg and Olive Sandwiches.

Four hard-boiled eggs, 2 tablespoons chopped olives, salt and pepper to taste—olive oil and vinegar. Chop the egg and mix with the olives, season and moisten with olive oil and vinegar. Spread between thin slices of buttered bread—preferably small.

Caviar Sandwiches.

Remove the crusts from thin slices of bread; spread with caviar mixed with lemon juice; roll each slice and fasten with a toothpick, or serve flat as usual.

Combination Sandwich.

Two slices whole wheat bread, 2 slices cold boiled ham, 2 slices Swiss cheese, butter. Butter the bread, on one slice put the slice of cold ham, then lay the cheese, then the other slice of bread and press down firmly. Cut across diagonally and serve.

Egg Toast.

One egg, 1-4 teaspoon salt, 1 cup milk, 4 slices bread. Beat the egg thoroughly and add the salt and milk. Have the bread cut in thin slices; dip them in milk, allowing each to absorb some. Brown in a buttered frying pan or on a griddle. Butter and serve hot with sugar and cinnamon, or syrup.

Chicken Gilet and Egg Sandwiches.

Giblets of one chicken, 1-2 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, 1 tablespoon cream, 1 teaspoon tomato sauce, 1 hard cooked egg, 1-2 teaspoon salt, rye

L. D. BELLE ISLE DIES OF ACCIDENT INJURIES

Brother of A. L. Belle Isle Falls on Peachtree

L. D. Belle Isle, 58, brother of the president of the Black & White Cab Co. died Wednesday night at a private hospital of injuries received when he accidentally was knocked from a scaffolding on which he was working on the C. O. B. building, at Peachtree and Ellis streets.

According to other workmen on the second floor level of the building under construction, Mr. Belle Isle, employed as a carpenter on the job, had stepped from the elevator shaft level on the second story and was getting a drink of water from a faucet when the elevator, which had just taken a load of material to the third floor level, came down and struck a part of the man's body which protruded into the shaft. Mr. Belle Isle was knocked to the street, and received a fractured skull and other serious injuries.

Mr. Belle Isle had lived in Atlanta for more than 30 years, having come here with his family from Brooks, Ga., where he was born. He had returned only a year ago from Florida, where he had been engaged on a construction job for some time.

He is survived by his wife, a daughter, Mrs. La. Quila Butler; one son, Douglas Belle Isle, of Tampa; five sisters, Mrs. Z. A. Sherman, of Tennessee, Ga.; Mrs. Viola Carmichael, Chattanooga; Mrs. N. B. Bettis, Mrs. Annie Cosby and Mrs. N. Rhoball, all of Atlanta, and three brothers, A. L. Belle Isle, R. E. and A. N. Belle Isle.

Funeral arrangements are under direction of H. M. Patterson & Son, and will be announced.

bread and butter. Boil the giblets in salted water until tender. Put them together with the hard-boiled egg through a meat chopper. Add the seasoning and cream; spread between buttered slices of rye bread.

Creole Sandwich.

Four tablespoons butter, 1-2 cup flaked sardines, 2 tablespoons tomato catsup, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 6 stuffed olives, whole wheat bread. Soften the butter, add the sardines finely flaked, the tomato catsup, lemon juice and olives chopped fine. Spread on whole wheat bread.

Brazilian Sandwich.

One package white cream cheese, 2 tablespoons condensed milk, 2 tablespoons chopped nuts, 3 tablespoons pineapple or strawberry preserves. Mash cheese, add milk and blend. Add nuts and preserves, well drained of syrup. Spread thin slices of white or graham bread with mayonnaise, cover half the slices with the mixture and the remaining half with lettuce leaves. Put together in pairs. Makes 6 sandwiches.

Atlanta Special.

One cream cheese or an equal quantity cottage cheese, 2 cups minced ham, 20 slices white or rye bread, 1 bunch watercress. Pick the leaves from the watercress and cream them into the cheese, together with the ham. Spread between thin slices of unbuttered bread. A little mayonnaise or French dressing may be added if desired. Makes 10 sandwiches.

In addition to the sandwiches which we make up, there are any number of already prepared cheeses and spreads which are delicious, and solve the hostess question of what to serve when a quick sandwich is needed.

Mrs. W. B. Dalton, of 433 North Highland avenue, sends us her own recipe for raw turnip salad. It sounds awfully good, and I would suggest your trying it.

Raw Turnip Salad.

Turnips from one bunch of salad—a bell pepper—2 or 3 pieces of celery, 2 carrots, 1 small onion. Chop or grind all to about the same size. Use plenty of mayonnaise mixed with a little canned cream. Pepper and salt to taste. This can be varied by adding more or less of each vegetable, as desired.

J. F. HOUSTON DIES IN MEMPHIS HOSPITAL

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 7.—(AP)—J. F. Houston, long a political foe of the Shelby county organization headed by Representative E. H. Crump, died at a hospital today as a result of a kidney ailment. He was 54 years old.

Repeatedly a victor in his race for the Shelby county court from Fishersville, his home district, Houston was "legislated" out of office when the county was redistricted by a bill introduced in the state general assembly by the Shelby county delegation.

MANNING VAUGHAN.

ST. LOUIS, April 7.—(AP)—Manning Vaughan, veteran sports writer for the Milwaukee Journal, died here today of a fractured skull received, his wife said, in a fall in Memphis, Tennessee.

Mrs. Vaughan said he was found unconscious in a room in the Frisco hotel in Memphis, a week ago Saturday. He was taken to Hot Springs, Ark., she said, and placed under the care of a physician, who later advised he be brought to St. Louis for treatment at Barnes hospital, where he died.

Mrs. Vaughan told police her husband was unable to make a statement since his injury. An inquest will be held tomorrow.

SEMMES STEELE.

HOUSTON, Texas, April 7.—(AP)—Semmes Steele, 52, of Galveston, widely known steamship executive, died in a hospital here today. He suffered a paralytic stroke last Saturday.

He was living in Houston temporarily as general manager of the Tosco steamship line after the death of S. W. Henry.

For about 15 years Mr. Steele was president and general manager of the Steele Steamship Line, with offices in Galveston and New Orleans. During the war he held an executive position with the United States shipping board.

PROFESSOR MAX LENZ.

BERLIN, April 7.—(AP)—Professor Max Lenz, eminent historian, died today at 81. He wrote critical studies of Bismarck, Napoleon and Martin Luther, among other works.

First Lady Deciphers Hoover Script in Pinch

WASHINGTON, April 7.—(AP)—Mrs. Herbert Hoover was called upon to decipher her husband's handwriting at a luncheon given today by the League of Republican Women.

Mrs. Frank Mondell, president of the league, reading a greeting from President Hoover to the 800 women assembled, suddenly halted, then said helplessly: "I can't read his writing."

Mrs. Hoover, seated at her right, quickly came to her rescue. Then followed the reading of the message with a greeting of her own.

HEALTH BOARD LISTS QUARANTINE CASES

Measles and whooping cough, old-fashioned diseases of childhood, Thursday were classed with the more serious infectious ailments when the Fulton county board of health added the two to the quarantine list. In the future, houses where measles and whooping cough cases are confined will be quarantined, the board ruled.

The board of health voted to recommend to the county commission that sewerage disposal plants on the north side be enlarged and repaired to reduce the health hazard. W. T. Cawthon was elected chief sanitary inspector. Dr. W. N. Adkins is county health officer.

BURNS PROVE FATAL TO 13-YEAR-OLD GIRL

Death came Thursday to 13-year-old Winifred Mitchell, of Ellenwood, who was burned more than two weeks ago when her clothes became ignited while she was dressing her baby brother.

The child was brought to the Crawford W. Long Memorial hospital, where doctors made every effort to save her life.

Winifred, who was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Mitchell, of Ellenwood, was dressing her small brother when a spark from an open fire caught in her dress, it was said. The child made ineffectual efforts to beat out the flames but her clothes were burned off before aid came. She showed improvement at the hospital until several days ago, when she took a turn for the worse. Funeral arrangements are under the direction of the McMullen Company, of Jonesboro.

an egg looks fried in

Snowdrift

Snowdrift keeps its goodness at frying heat

Fry a nice, fresh breakfast egg in Snowdrift. You'll see that the white of the egg stays pure white and appetizing. That is because Snowdrift is so fresh and pure it doesn't burn at frying heat. And for the very same reason all good foods are wholesome and good-to-eat fried in Snowdrift.

HALF-WAY through life before he found
RELIEF!

Yet one healthful cereal, providing "bulk" and Vitamin B, would have banished those backaches, headaches and loss of ambition

EVEN at twenty-five, he had the earmarks of success. At thirty-five, people were not so sure. And at forty, he was an old man with his best years behind him—or so it seemed.

So simple a thing as constipation had taken the "punch" out of his precious earning years. His days at the office were a nightmare of headaches, puny appetite, loss of energy.

Pills and drugs?—he took them all the time. He had to keep on increasing the doses to get results. One day, some one told him about Kellogg's ALL-BRAN.

So he tried it—without much enthusiasm. Just another so-called remedy, he thought. In a month, his friends were wondering what had happened to him. He had new pep, new vitality. And at forty, his best years were ahead of him.

The gentle, natural way to relieve common

CONSTIPATION

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN supplies two things needed to overcome common constipation: "Bulk" to exercise the intestines; Vitamin B to help tone the intestinal tract. This "bulk" is similar to that of lettuce. Within the body it is different from the way you see it in the package. It absorbs moisture and forms a soft mass, which gently clears the intestines of wastes.

Just eat two tablespoonfuls daily. If your intestinal trouble is not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN also furnishes twice as much blood-building iron as an equal amount by weight of beef liver. Enjoy it as a cereal, or use in cooking. Get the red-and-green package at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

HUGE PECAN SHIPMENT CONFISCATED BY U. S.

WASHINGTON, April 7.—More than 60,000 pounds of unshelled pecans, consigned by H. L. Cromartie, Albany, Ga., to dealers in St. Louis and Kansas City, Mo., and Chicago, Ill., have been confiscated by government authorities, according to an announcement just made public by the federal food and drug association, of the department of agriculture.

Federal examination proved the nuts to be decomposed and their shipment declared additionally illegal in that the bags had not been labeled with the "quantity-of-contents" statement which the law requires on all packages of food.

The secretary of agriculture said that during last month the federal food and drug administration had seized 105 consignments of foods and drugs found to violate the national pure food and drug law.

For lazy liver, stomach and kidneys, biliousness, indigestion, constipation, headache, colds and fever.

Wisconsin Opposes Sunday Blue Laws

MILWAUKEE, April 7.—(UP)—Wisconsin voters who repealed their state liquor laws three years ago were headed toward abolishment of the 83-year-old Sunday blue laws.

Returns from more than half the precincts in the state showed that opponents of the statute were leading by 50,000 votes.

The 1933 legislature is expected to take steps toward repealing the blue laws, which prohibit open stores, theaters and other amusements on the Sabbath.

CICERO, CITY FAMED FOR GANG EPISODES, SEEKS REDEMPTION

CICERO, Ill., April 7.—(AP)—This village of 66,000 on the western fringe of Chicago, once a headquarters for Capone hoodlums and scene of many bloody gang episodes, is out to redeem its reputation.

Its residents, speaking through ballots in the municipal elections, have swept aside republican rule of 16 years and placed in the president's chair Joseph G. Cerny, a democrat, who campaigned on a platform of "jail for the gangsters and pay rolls for public employees."

"Undesirables must go," was President-elect Cerny's first post-election pronouncement last night as he busied himself with preparations for what he said would be an intensive clean-up.

It was in Cicero Rosetta Duncan, the musical comedy star, had her nose broken and charged a burly policeman did it.

There William McSwigin, young assistant state's attorney, fell under gangland bullets.

There "Scarface Al" Capone, an unknown young hoodlum, fought for underworld supremacy beside Johnny Torrio, his "master." And there Capone's older brother, Frank, was slain by police.

Music Club Workers To Close Drive for Members Saturday

Only two more days remain in which to join the Atlanta Music Club and gain the privilege of the civic concert series and regular activities of the club, it was announced Thursday afternoon by Mrs. Walter H. Bedard, president, who emphasized that no memberships will be registered after the official close of membership week.

Concerted activity on the part of the leaders of the campaign, together with the campaign captains and group workers, has resulted in a greatly increased enrollment since the campaign opened Monday, it was stated, and it is expected that today and tomorrow will double the present membership, assuring a splendid season of music here next fall and winter.

The concert course is expected to include the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra, under the direction of Eugene Ormandy, which is a general request; also a pianist, a singer and a violinist and perhaps other attractions.

A statement endorsing the music club and its civic music movement, and urging the young people of Atlanta to take advantage of the opportunity afforded by the junior membership, at half rate, was given out Thursday by W. A. Sutton, superintendent of Atlanta public schools.

The following application for membership should be addressed to The Atlanta Music Club Campaign Headquarters, 84 Broad street, N.W.:

MORE JOBS FOUND FOR GEORGIA IDLE

NEW YORK, April 7.—(P)—The war against depression headquarters announced tonight 451,802 jobs had been found for unemployed men and women since its campaign began.

Reports from 66 communities in 25 states, the announcement said, listed 7,855 men and women put back to work.

Today's reports included Georgia (4,654 to date), Asheville, 11; Atlanta, 76; Washington, 28.

Platinum-Bearing Sand Reported Off Alaska

SEWARD, Alaska, April 7.—(AP)—Rumors prevailed here today that Jack McCard, a promoter, has discovered platinum-bearing sands on Chirikof Island and was planning to start immediate development of a mine.

Chirikof Island is southwest of Kodiak Island in the north Pacific ocean. It is often called Ukamok, and is spelled diversely.

BOY OF 7 DROWNS IN FALL INTO WELL

EUREKA SPRINGS, Ark., April 7.—(P)—Floyd Sperry, 7, fell to his death in an abandoned well, 45 feet deep, here yesterday.

With other children, he was sliding down an embankment. As he reached the well opening, the boards covering it gave way. A few feet of water was in the well and physicians believed the child was rendered unconscious by the fall and drowned.

The body was recovered.

BOLIVIA, PARAGUAY COMPOSE DIFFERENCES

BUENOS AIRES, April 7.—(AP)—Foreign Minister Lamas said today ministers of Paraguay and Bolivia, between whom differences have existed for many months, have notified him under instructions from their governments that a set of principles of peace between the two governments has been ratified.

Britain Guarantees Price of Home Wheat

LONDON, April 7.—(P)—The government's wheat quota bill to provide a guaranteed price to British wheat growers was given third and final reading by the house of commons tonight.

It provides for a subsidy amounting to the difference between the world price of wheat and a fixed price of 45 shillings a quarter (about $10.80 at par, or approximately $8.50 at the current rate of exchange, for eight bushels).

Sir John Gilmour, minister of agriculture, in final defense of the bill, described it as an essential part of the government's scheme to relieve a distressed agricultural industry. He said it aimed at a balanced grain production and left a great mass of incoming wheat untouched.

Knowing—as I do—I say

Colonial Bread

Good Bread

I'VE TRIED THEM ALL —I've given particular thought to the flavor texture and freshness of many different kinds of bread. I've made toast—sandwiches—have used bread in many shapes and forms. I've served bread to my family—my children—my guests. I know now that there is a big difference in the various brands of bread.

Colonial Bread, made by an exclusive twisting process, is truly unequaled in quality. Remember "IT'S TWISTED"

Here is what we mean when we say "IT'S TWISTED"

First, two pieces of dough are shaped into long rolls.

Then, these rolls are twisted together, squeezing the cells and squeezing out all air pockets.

Next, this twisted dough is placed in a pan where the "proofing" or "rising" takes place.

This rising action tightens the twist, sealing in the freshness and flavor.

The finished loaf has three outstanding advantages:

1. SEALED IN FLAVOR All the appetizing goodness of splendid ingredients is retained.
2. LONGER FRESHNESS Due to the sealing effect of the twist.
3. IMPROVED TEXTURE Air holes and coarse cells are eliminated.

I have found the difference in bread is so great that I am as careful in buying bread as I am in purchasing any other food my family eats.

When I say Colonial bread is good bread, I feel that I know. I've tested it and tasted it. I've seen the snowy whiteness of the bakery where it is made—visitors are always welcome—and I've seen with my own eyes just what materials are used there.

Really, you wouldn't expect me to say anything but "Colonial" to my grocer when I need bread, would you? And after all the most important thing I can say to you is what I've already said—

Colonial Bread

IS Good BREAD

GOVERNORS TO FIGHT
LABOR EXPLOITATIONNew Hampshire Executive
Calls on Chiefs of Textile States.

CONCORD, N. H., April 7.—(AP)—Governor John G. Winant has asked the governors of all textile states to join him in an effort to prevent the exploitation of labor in textile mills, his office disclosed today.

Governor Winant's secretary said the governor had sent telegrams to the governors of other textile states asking them if they would attend a conference at Washington to discuss some means of stopping the exploitation of labor. It was said that he did not intend to make a statement on the matter until after he had learned the attitude of the other governors to such a proposal.

The secretary said Winant had several plans in mind. These included an agreement for a 48-hour law in all textile states, federal legislation on the matter or an agreement on wages and hours.

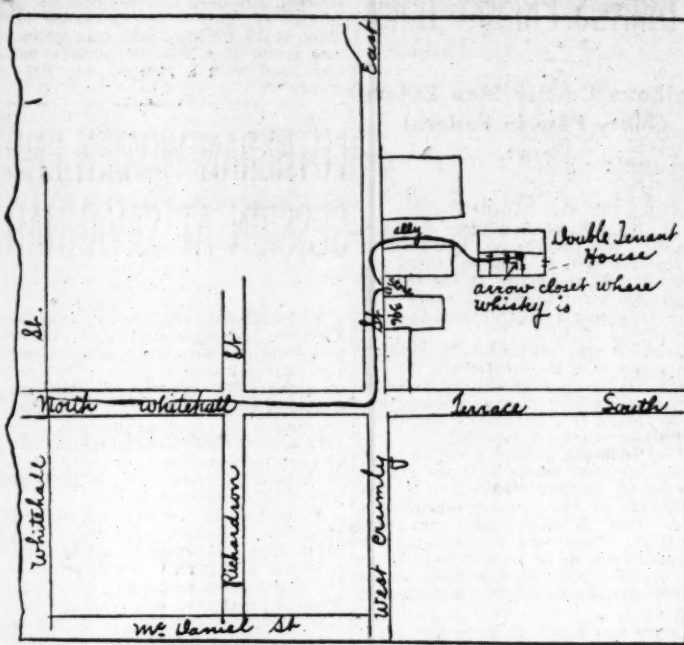

The secretary called to mind the statements of many northern mill owners that cheaper labor in southern mills was endangering the business in the north. For one example of the difference in law governing the textile industry the secretary pointed out the 54-hour law in New Hampshire and the 48-hour law in Massachusetts.

Aiken's Lawyers Will Use
New Evidence in Trial Fight

Be careful Sam. Heard our plans yesterday

The map, sent anonymously to officers, which caused the arrest of Sam F. Aiken on a liquor charge, prior to the slaying of his wife and Boyce Hunter, is shown above, together with a note said to have been found in Mrs. Aiken's pocket after her death. Counsel for Aiken announced Thursday that the map and an accompanying note will be used in Aiken's behalf in an effort to show that he was framed by his wife. Handwriting on the note to the officers, corresponds to that of the above note, Attorney Len B. Guillebeau said.

Evidence tending to support Sam F. Aiken's contention that he slew his first wife, Mrs. Annie Mae Aiken, and her alleged lover, Boyce Hunter, after she had betrayed Aiken into the hands of the liquor squad, has been discovered and will be used in Aiken's behalf in an effort to void his sentence to the death chair, Len B. Guillebeau, chief counsel, announced Thursday. Guillebeau said that he now is prepared to show that an anonymous note which tipped off the liquor squad and resulted in Aiken's arrest and subsequent sentence of six months on the chain gang was in Mrs. Aiken's handwriting. He will seek to establish the claim that Aiken was "framed" to the chain gang in order that Mrs. Aiken and Hunter might carry on a love affair, Guillebeau said. During his trial, Aiken charged that Hunter and Mrs. Aiken were planning to get rid of him and Guillebeau said that one of the chief factors in his newly-discovered evidence is a note found in Mrs. Aiken's pocket saying: "Be careful Sam heard our plans yesterday." With the aid of handwriting experts, he said he has evidence that this note and the anonymous note to the officers were in the

GOVERNOR IS ASKED TO HALT EXECUTION

An eleventh hour plea for the life of James H. Parker, scheduled to die in the electric chair at Milledgeville today, was made to Governor Russell Thursday afternoon. The executive said that he would announce a decision early this morning.

Parker was convicted in October, 1930, at Waycross for the murder of a daughter and is under indictment for the murder of his wife, Mrs. Cora Hazen, the woman Parker was living with at the time the bodies of the daughter and wife were found, has been acquitted on the charge of killing the daughter but is awaiting trial on a charge of having slain Mrs. Parker.

The case has been before the prison commission, which declined to recommend clemency. An appeal to the supreme court prior to the clemency plea resulted in a three-to-five decision.

BRITON KILLS SELF IN LONDON HOME

LONDON, April 7.—(AP)—Hon. Cecil Arthur Campbell, 63, son of the third Baron Stratheden and uncle of the present peer, was found dead in his home here today with a bullet wound in his temple. A pistol was found nearby.

He married Josephine Williams, daughter of Richard Henry Williams, of New York, in 1915.

same handwriting, and that this handwriting corresponds with that of Mrs. Aiken. The note to the liquor squad was accompanied with a penciled sketch showing the location of Aiken's liquor, he said.

"We contend that Aiken was justified under the laws of Georgia in killing Hunter and Mrs. Aiken," said Guillebeau. "In Georgia, this is written law. We further contend that the series of revelations to Aiken of the affair between Hunter and Mrs. Aiken caused Aiken to become temporarily insane by the time he had shot Hunter and that he was not mentally responsible for his acts when he followed his wife into the yard and shot her also."

Aiken's case will be taken up in the supreme court in the near future on an appeal on an extraordinary motion for a new trial. Guillebeau said that a great deal of newly discovered evidence has come to himself and to his associates in the case, Louis H. Foster and Frank A. Bowers. Aiken's second wife, whom he married in Texas while at liberty after an escape from Fulton tower, is waging a determined fight in his behalf. Guillebeau said that a large number of affidavits tending to substantiate Aiken's court statement on the double killing have come to him.

Fontana Opens Drug Store

Atlanta's newest downtown drug store, Fontana's, which is shown above, has just opened on the ground floor of the Peck building on the corner opposite the Candler building on Peachtree street, facing Peachtree, Houston and Pryor streets. J. J. Fontana, manager of this store, will stage a formal opening on Friday and Saturday.

GOVERNOR APPROVES
CONVICT'S TRANSFER

Overruling the state prison commission, Governor Richard B. Russell Thursday held that because a man leaves one chain gang and reports to another for work he is not an escape and deserving of a year's penalty for the voluntary transfer. Will Lynch was serving three to five years for an assault charge on the Forsyth gang. The warden, he said, became highly abusive and he decided to work out his sentence in Banks county. The arrangement was perfected and the governor's action Thursday gave Lynch freedom.

St. Cloud was selected as the place for the 1933 encampment. Other officers of the affiliated organizations will be installed today.

G. M. C. INTRODUCES GAS REFRIGERATOR

The introduction of the Faraday gas-operated refrigerator in General Motors exhibits this week marks the entry of General Motors into the domestic gas field where it is believed this new product will be welcomed as well as the association of the General Motors organization with the gas industry.

Several years ago General Motors realized that in the gas industry lay another fine field for the selling of modern automatic refrigeration and accordingly began intensive research to perfect a product which would answer the need for a refrigerator worthy of the gas industry and of bearing the mark of General Motors.

The experiments of Michael Faraday in 1823 furnished the starting point. Faraday in those experiments succeeded for the first time in liquefying certain gases which have later been used in refrigeration. His experiments also proved that the evaporation of these gases produced refrigeration and so supplied the principal which is used in all modern automatic refrigeration today. Strangely enough Faraday accomplished his results by the "absorption" of the gases in an "absorbent" followed by the application of heat which liberated and liquefied these gases. This method of refrigeration has been known as the "absorption" method and is the method which has been used in the Faraday refrigerator.

The Atlanta Gas Light Company, which has been chosen as distributor in Atlanta for this product because of excellent reputation and thorough knowledge of gas-operated equipment, is operating the Faraday display at General Motors exhibit at the Palace Peachtree this week. The distributing organization for this product is the Faraday Refrigerator Corporation, Dayton, Ohio.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—
WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rain' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blotches. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely. But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Rement a substitute. 25c at all stores. © 1931 C. M. Co.

FIRST DISTRICT G. O. P. IN CONVENTION TODAY

SAVANNAH, Ga., April 7.—(AP)—The first congressional district republican convention will be held at the Chatham county courthouse tomorrow at noon. Delegates from nearly all of the 18 counties comprising the district are expected. The republican executive committee of the district did not acknowledge that they were "abolished" by the recent congressional redistricting act, but claimed it had the right, in as much as it was intact and unchanged except for the addition of five new counties, to convene, take cognizance of the act and conform to it by bringing in the new counties by proper representation. It is contended that the summary abolishment of all of the organizations of the district by the republican state central committee, led by J. T. Rose and James W. Arnold, was arbitrary and destructive.

DR. DICE R. ANDERSON INAUGURATION TODAY

MACON, Ga., April 7.—(AP)—Dr. Dice R. Anderson, who has devoted his entire life to the cause of education, will be inaugurated as president of Wesleyan College Friday in ceremonies that will attract many college presidents to the historic Methodist institution. Dr. Anderson, formerly president of Randolph-Macon Women's College, was elected to the presidency of Wesleyan on April 6, last year. He assumed charge on the first of last September.

The ceremonies Friday will include academic and social programs in which scores of educators will take part. Leon P. Smith, dean of Wesleyan, said Thursday 300 visitors will be here from out of town and more than 100 Macon persons will be official guests. The delegates began arriving Thursday night.

Cloudy skies were forecast for the inauguration.

About 1,200 employees are affected by the strike. Franklin's letter was written to H. E. Thompson, Governor Blackwood's personal representative.

FOREST FIRES RAVAGE SOUTH WAYNE COUNTY

More Than 5,000 Acres of Timber Gone; Hundreds Fight Flames.

JESUP, Ga., April 7.—(AP)—Forest fires are raging in the southern part of Wayne county. All naval stores operators of the county have their entire crews fighting in this section. Many citizens of Jesup are assisting. W. C. Hopkins, of Toledo, brought a large truckload of men and is also aiding in the fight. This body of approximately 300 men has been fighting fires for almost 36 hours. Due to the extreme drought and high winds it has been impossible to get it under control. Old citizens say it is the worst forest fire in the history of the county.

There are more than 5,000 acres already burned and going at a fast rate. Many men have fought for 24 hours without food or rest. As the fire sweeps through the dense thicket the high winds carry sparks several hundred yards and start new fires. The naval stores operators of Wayne county have all joined the Forest Protective Association and fire breaks are much in evidence but are of little use owing to the high winds. A. E. Knight is the heaviest loser, having lost approximately 10,000 acres and 14 barrels of gum ready dipped but still in the woods. Other heavy losers are W. C. Rogers and W. R. Flowers.

DISTRICT MORTICIANS MEET AT SAVANNAH

SAVANNAH, Ga., April 7.—(AP)—The quarterly meeting of the fourth district organization of the Georgia Funeral Directors' Association was held here today. About 75 people, including members and their wives, attended.

A business meeting at the hotel De Soto and a dinner at the Shrine Club at Thunderbolt were the principal features of the program. H. Wallace Sipple, local chairman for the meeting, arranged the details of the business and social sessions. He acted as toastmaster at the dinner. C. E. Dorman, of Athens, president of the Georgia Funeral Directors' Association, and Frank B. Lowndes, of Atlanta, secretary and treasurer, were the principal speakers at the meeting this afternoon. They discussed funeral insurance.

Fred Fletcher, of Millen, chairman of the district organization, presided at the business session. Robert L. Holland outlined to the gathering a credit exchange plan which will also probably be presented at the state meeting.

"Modern Funeral Directing" was the subject of an address by Harry G. Poole Jr., of Atlanta. "New Methods of Embalming" was discussed by Lester T. Elliott, of Augusta.

TECH STUDENTS GET SCHOLASTIC AWARDS

Scholastic awards for excellence in various branches of the curriculum, student memberships in honorary fraternities and presentation of "Gold T's" for 1932 were made in the Georgia School of Technology chapel Thursday morning on the occasion of the institution's annual "Tech Honor Day."

The program was opened with greetings by Dr. M. L. Brittain, president of the school; Dr. J. R. McCain, president of Agnes Scott College, delivered the address of the morning. Dr. McCain urged the students not to cease their efforts with the acquisition of student honors, but to continue so throughout life.

The presentation of the awards and cups were made by H. H. Caldwell, Professor H. W. Mason, J. H. Harrison, Professor J. M. McDaniel, Professor T. W. Noel, B. L. Mattingly, A. Syd Williams, Ivan Allen, Professor Bush-Brown, Professor Busby and Professor T. W. Fitzgerald. Among the fraternity honors awarded were memberships in Phi Kappa Phi, Phi Eta Sigma, Phi Kappa, Tau Beta Pi and Alpha Kappa Psi. Winners of the "Gold T," selected from the junior class, are those who rank in the highest 7 per cent of the class on the basis of their entire records to date.

Music was furnished by the Georgia Tech Glee Club orchestra.

Totem Pole, Symbol of Activities Of Brenau College, Is Dedicated

GAINESVILLE, Ga., April 7.—Autumn was directed by Miss Louise Allen. The dancers were Helen Steele, Adams, N. Y.; Louise Bower, Rainey, Ga.; and Misses Greer, Thomasville; Eulalie Matthews, Billy Stiles, Shreveport, La.

Unusual also was the reading of original poems by four of the students who won this honor in a competitive contest conducted by Dr. G. R. Brigham, of the Journalism department. The poems were read by Marie McKinney, Greenville, S. C., representing the senior class; Marguerite Herbert, Roanoke, Va.; Ethel York, Atlanta; sophomore; Dorothy Gurkin, Newark, N. J.

One of the features of the program was the rendition of several numbers of Indian music from the cantata "Mon Dah Min," by the Brenau Glee Club, under the direction of Dean of the Conservatory E. G. Michaelis. The cantata was composed by the pole and Mrs. Pearce designed the patters.

SEED LOAN FORGERY BRINGS PRISON TERM

Calhoun County Man Enters Guilty Plea in Federal Court.

ALBANY, Ga., April 7.—(AP)—H. S. D. Johnson, of Arlington, Calhoun county, was sentenced by Federal Judge Bascom S. Deaver today to serve a year and a day in the federal penitentiary for forgery in connection with obtaining a federal seed loan in the spring of 1931.

Johnson was charged with causing the name of H. McMichael, Buena Vista, Ga., loan representative of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, to be forged on a landowner's waiver to a government crop mortgage.

Walter Jones, same address, on trial with Johnson, swore that he signed the mortgage at the request of Johnson and after Johnson said that Mr. McMichael had told Johnson that it was all right to sign the mortgage. Johnson spelled out the name for Jones to sign for the reason that Jones could not spell.

After two hours of testimony Johnson withdrew his plea of not guilty and entered a plea of guilty. A verdict of not guilty was then taken in the Walter Jones case. Prosecution was directed by J. H. Kuck, United States Attorney A. Edward Smith, of Macon. The evidence of forgery was collected by F. W. Allen, special agent in charge of the department of justice, Birmingham, and Roy Harrell, supervisor farmers' seed loan office, Fitzgerald. This is the first case of forgery in connection with obtaining a seed loan to be tried in Georgia.

HAWKS INJURED IN PLANE MISHAP

Noted Flyer Crashes Into Stone Wall as Ground
Prevents Take-off Speed

WORCESTER, Mass., April 7.—(AP)—Captain Frank M. Hawks, noted speed flyer, was injured today in an attempted take-off from the Worcester airport.

A soft field prevented Hawks' plane from picking up enough speed to take to the air. It crashed through heavy undergrowth, over rocks and into a stone wall.

Hawks was unconscious when lifted from his wrecked plane. His face was badly cut and bruised and X-ray pictures disclosed nose and jaw fractures which doctors at the Worcester City hospital said might result in facial paralysis.

Hawks, who set several American speed records within the past few years, was taking off for New York after fulfilling a lecture engagement here last night. His arrival yesterday was marked by a mishap when an escort plane piloted by John Whittin Laselle, of Whitesville, nosed over to one side of the central runway while leaving a clear field for Hawks.

Flying here from St. Louis, Hawks lectured last night under the auspices of the Worcester council, Boy Scouts of America. After breakfast this morning he went to the airport, planning to go to New York to complete plans for a flight to Porto Rico next week.

Finding the field soft he decided on a take-off from a dirt road cutting across the airport. This proved unsatisfactory so he took off across the field. It was necessary for his plane to gain a speed of 70 miles an hour in order to take off. The soft dirt held down the speed and the plane failed to rise while going 50 miles an hour.

Hawks' wife was at Fort Worth, Texas, when she received news of the accident. She immediately communicated with Worcester by telephone and made plans to fly here if her husband was critically hurt. She was assured the flyer's condition was not alarming so she left by train.

The quick hop of Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh from New York to Paris prevented Hawks from realizing his ambition to be the first man to make this flight. He began his flying career as an imposter.

He posed as a newspaper reporter to get passage with a hand-running aviator and after he had confessed his role he was made ground assistant. During 1929 he began his assault on records in the United States and then went to Europe and Canada to set many informal records for flights between cities. In 1930 he was chosen as America's outstanding flyer by the Ligue Internationale Des Aviateurs.

One of Hawks' many stunts was to be towed from California to New York in a glider in tow of an airplane.

1 KILLED, MANY HURT IN HUNGARIAN RIOTS

BUDAPEST, Hungary, April 7.—(AP)—One man was killed, many were wounded and 300 were arrested today in various provincial cities in connection with a widespread socialist demand for government relief to the unemployed.

COUNTRY IS FACING GRAVE EMERGENCY, EXECUTIVE AVERS

faces today a more grave emergency than in 1917, when the war began for us," said the governor. "It is said Napoleon lost at Waterloo because he forgot his infantry—he staked too much on the more spectacular but less substantial cavalry. The administration in Washington provides a close parallel. It has either forgotten or it does not want to remember the infantry of our economic army."

"It is high time to admit with courage that we are in the midst of an emergency at least equal to that of war. Let us mobilize to meet it."

Large appropriations for public construction, a measure advocated by former Governor Smith, also in the race for the presidential nomination, would be "only a stop-gap" and "would not give employment to the 7,000,000 or 10,000,000 people out of work."

Half Farmers.
"How much do the shallow thinkers realize that one-half of our whole population, fifty or sixty million, earn their living by farming or in small towns whose existence immediately depends upon farms? They have lost their purchasing power. They are receiving for farm products less than the cost of growing them."

"No nation can long endure half bankrupt. Main street, Broadway, the mills, the mines, will close if half the buyers are broke."

Linked with restoration of the farmer's buying power in Mr. Roosevelt's argument was relief for the rural and urban home owner from dispossession by foreclosure of mortgage holders. Their relationship, he said, was to the "little local bank or company; their relationship to the great banks of Chicago and New York is pretty remote."

The Hawley-Smoot tariff act of 1930 "compelled the world to trade in excesses so high that world trade is decreasing to the vanishing point," the executive asserted. "The value of goods internationally exchanged is today less than half of what it was three or four years ago."

"The only way outside nations can pay us for goods is the desire to sell them in their own goods or raw materials, but this foolish tariff of ours makes that impossible. What we must do is this: Revoke our tariff by foreclosure of mortgage holders. Their relationship, he said, was to the 'little local bank or company; their relationship to the great banks of Chicago and New York is pretty remote.'"

The New York executive paid a tribute to President Wilson, under whom he served as assistant secretary of the navy, declaring:

"Success in the great national emergency of the World War was due to a leadership whose vision carried beyond the timorous and futile gesture of sending a tiny army of 150,000 trained soldiers and the regular navy to the aid of our allies. The generalship of that moment conceived of a whole nation mobilized for war—economic, industrial, social and military resources gathered in to a vast unit of 10,000,000 persons. It was a great plan because it was built from the bottom to top and not from top to bottom."

Mr. Hoover, whose relief program Governor Roosevelt assailed, was President Wilson's food administrator during World War days.

EFFECTS OF BOOM ON UTILITY SHOWN

Witness Tells of Valuation of Florida, Georgia Companies in Recent Years.

WASHINGTON, April 7.—(AP)—The effect of the collapse of the Florida boom on the Florida Power Corporation was described today at the closing hearing on the Georgia Power and Light Company, an affiliate of the Florida Corporation.

Judson C. Dickerman, trade commission engineer-examiner, was the last witness to be called and gave technical testimony on the properties and operations of both companies.

Responding to questions by Robert E. Healy, commission's chief counsel, Dickerman said the Florida corporation's management was "keenly watchful of operating expenses and eager for any available business."

He said the collapse of the Florida boom, however, had left the company "with heavy capital commitments and an overbuilt property for the business in hand."

Asked specifically about the state of the company's affairs, he said that "substantially, $3,500,000, or nearly 15 per cent of the Florida company's fixed capital of $25,000,000 as of December 31, 1930, represented property no longer useful, write-ups of intangible values and write-ups reflecting boom conditions."

On the basis of two appraisals some 10 years ago, he said, the values of the properties were written up between $800,000 and $700,000.

Dickerman's testimony during the day on the Georgia company was largely technical and dealt with operating revenues.

The engineer submitted a table showing the complete operating revenues of the Georgia company for 1920 and 1931 and at Healy's request placed it in evidence. It showed the division of the total kilowatt hours sold in the two years to be:

ECONOMY GROUP

voice, while only one republican voted with seven democrats.

President Hoover and the war and navy secretaries are opposed to the bill, but Speaker Garner indicated the economy committee would report it for house action as early as possible in view of the expenditure group's action.

The exchange of notes between the White House and the capital precipitated heated debate in the house when it resumed consideration of the $885,000,000 independent office supply bill.

Chairman Byrns, of the appropriations committee, opened it with the statement that Mr. Hoover had charged his committee had "perpetrated a fraud upon congress and upon the American people by recommending reductions in appropriations which would inevitably have to be taken care of in a deficiency bill at the next December session." He said there would be no deficiency bill next December if he was still chairman of the committee.

The Tennessee democrat who is former head of the economy group, said Mr. Hoover had asked "congress to do the unusual thing and the unconstitutional thing," in requesting it to "delegate authority to him, so that he could repeal laws in the course of his consolidations at his own will."

Asserting the chief executive had not made any specific recommendations for curtailment of expenditures, Byrns said:

"Now if he has not the information, he ought to be frank with the country and frank with congress and say he does not have it."

Byrns said a member of the appropriations committee furnished the information for Mr. Hoover's statement that about $80,000,000 of the $113,000,000 cut from appropriation bills was only deferred.

Representative Simmons, republican, Nebraska, said Byrns referred to him and added:

"I have charged and I again charge that the committee on appropriations is making cuts and claiming savings to the treasury as a result of bills that have been reported to the house that will not be reflected in the saving of one cent to the taxpayers of this country."

Simmons said that administrative chiefs had recommended 85 distinct suggestions to the economy committee for savings.

"I say that that is not true," Byrns interrupted.

"I repeat," Simmons shouted, "it is my information that 85 suggestions that result in savings that call for action on the part of congress, have been made to the economy committee. That committee has special authority to report bills of a privileged status to the house and in all these weeks that they have been calling administration heads before them—no one knows what they have been doing."

$4,000,000 Damage.
He estimated the destruction in Alabama at $4,000,000 to $5,000,000 and told the senators that "due to the widespread destitution and the collapse of the credit system, the area cannot supply the credit necessary to rebuild."

Fess denied a charge by Black that an attempt was being made to filibuster against the measure.

"This is the time to make a test of whether we are going on indefinitely with appropriations from the federal treasury," he said.

Senators Kean, republican, New Jersey, and Dickinson, republican, Iowa, opposed the resolution on similar grounds.

Black in reply argued that if $500,000,000 could be appropriated to create the Reconstruction Corporation the treasury could spare $5,000,000 for helping tornado victims.

Senator George, democrat, Georgia, supported him and Senator Norris, in opposing an attempt to have the measure sidetracked, he said "everybody knows a catastrophe like that cannot be taken care of by the states."

Loans under the measure are to be for 10 years with 5 per cent interest beginning at the fourth year.

Chairman Jones, of the house agriculture committee, said that as soon as the bill comes to the house and is referred formally to his committee he will discuss a hearing date with members of the Alabama delegation.

PREMIER REFUSES TO QUIT POSITION

London Reported Planning To Send Warship to Newfoundland.

ST. JOHN'S, Newfoundland, April 7.—(AP)—With a defiant refusal to resign, Sir Richard Squires today refrained from outlining Newfoundland's future policy.

The prime minister, back at his desk after a sudden return to the city from a 24-hour absence last night, asserted he had "absolutely no intention whatever of tendering my resignation."

The government, meanwhile, was represented as being unaware of reports in London that Great Britain had ordered a warship to St. John's.

The London Evening Standard said the action was contemplated in anticipation of further disorders among a bitter citizenry that Tuesday, 10,000 strong, stormed the old colonial building.

The mob threatened to throw Sir Richard into the harbor before the premier fled, assisted by clergymen and police. He returned last night as a force of 850 special officers discouraged tendencies toward further disorders.

Police still controlled the situation today.

Sir Richard declined to offer his resignation despite the advice of his ministers. Political circles forecast he would ask parliament to dissolve and order a dominion election.

Sir John Middleton, the king's governor, announced a royal commission would be appointed to inquire into "certain occurrences at the colonial building."

Among such matters is expected to be the cashing of a charge that Sir Richard falsified minutes of council to divert monies to political purposes. It was a charge that the king's governor, announced a royal commission would be appointed to inquire into "certain occurrences at the colonial building."

Proceeding further into what he characterized as "outrageously high" salaries, Mr. McCord asked:

"What does the chief janitor at the courthouse get?"

"Chief janitor is not the word," the commissioner replied, "although it has been used in politics. F. B. Eaves, a mass murderer, was chief janitor in thirty minutes."

Stewart whether the county commission could save money by reducing personnel.

Commissioner Stewart replied that the commission "can take away the appropriations."

"Putting in the salary system," he said, "was one of the worst things ever done. We, the Fulton county commission, have to fix salaries of men we do not employ, but who are elected by the people. We have no control over them and can't fire them."

Mr. Longino told the league committee that the commission could cut out 85 per cent of the larger salaries and still not remedy the situation. "It's those hundreds," he said, "who get $250 a month and less that count up and make the pay roll big. I don't see how we can cut those who get the very small salaries."

Mr. McCord insisted: "Can't you get rid of some of the personnel getting big salaries? The county has got to reduce expenses like everybody else. I am interested in one business where the executives' salaries have been cut 25 per cent. I want to say to these four county commissioners here that it is their duty to reduce Fulton county salaries."

Commissioner Hendrix expressed himself as against the proposed increase, stating that ample publicity had been given to the commission's problem and that many citizens had been invited to appear before the commission and make known their views upon the matter. The citizens, he said, had not protested when they had been informed that the commission was being asked to appropriate money it did not have. Commissioners Hendrix and Longino said they believed money could be saved by curtailing the activities of the public works department.

"I don't believe," said Mr. Hendrix, "there will be any increase in taxes. The city ought to have its own machinery for raising taxes to run its own institutions and so should the county. The appropriations have been made and we will have to find the money somewhere or else let the deficit ride."

The amount of the deficit faced by the county is represented in appropriations totaling $275,000 for the county's expenses in operation of Grady hospital, Battle Hill sanitarium, and the emergency relief fund.

"Cohens and Kellys" Picture at Capitol

"The Cohens and Kellys in Hollywood," with George Sidney and Charlie Murray, comes to the Capitol theater today. The new Universal production is said to be their funniest comedy. Norman Foster and June Clyde have the chief supporting roles. The story was written by Howard J. Green and directed by John Francis Dillon.

In this hilarious picture Kelly's daughter becomes a featured screen player and when the Cohens follow their Irish friends to the film capital they find the Kellys have "gone Hollywood" with tremendous enthusiasm.

Jimmy Beers, the organist, has arranged a novel program of songs for this week.

emerged with six names as prize-winners. They stated, however, that almost any of the 20 could have been chosen without injustice.

The contest was for the best line for Jimmy Durante to say in a scene in "The Passionate Plumber," now showing at the Grand, where Buster Keaton, who has one arm around the waist of Polly Moran, pushes Durante away with his free hand against Jimmy's face. Prizes, consisting of passes to the Grand, have been awarded the six winners in the contest. The lucky six are asked to call at the office of Manager Lewis White, at the Grand, and receive their passes to his show.

The winners are:
First prize, one double pass good for a month, W. O. Baker, 824 Brookridge drive, N. E.
Second prize, three pairs of single admission passes, P. F. Hinkle, care Robert Fulton hotel.
Third prize, two pairs of single admission passes each to Charles C. King, 3834 West Peachtree street; Mrs. W. E. Paris, 662 Cascade avenue, S. W.; and Charles K. Bantz, 821 Cumberland road.

Amateur Nite.

The Empire theater's "amateur nite" will be celebrated tonight at 8 o'clock. There are a large number of entrants this week, and the entertainment will be even better than usual, according to Manager Alpha Fowler, who acts as better plan of ceremonies. The feature picture will be "Devotion," starring Ann Harding.

Keaton Gets Laughs In "Passionate Plumber"

Someone was saying not long ago that Atlanta, from the movie standpoint, was laugh-starved. If any of the crowd going to the Grand anytime the rest of this week and see Buster Keaton in the "Passionate Plumber" they will get enough laughs to tide them over until Buster releases another one. The "deadpan" comedian is at his best and the laughs come so thick and fast that Thursday night the lines frequently were drowned out by the giggles of the audience.

The house Thursday night was packed and when those customers tell the neighbors about Buster's latest—well, you had better plan on getting there early or you may have to stand. Polly Moran and Jimmy Durante support Buster in his comedy, but it's just like trying to gild the lily. Buster is enough to make you stay or so all by himself. The rest of the bill is excellent, but as a real laugh puller the picture can't be beat.

SOCIAL WORKERS LAUD ROOSEVELT

Officers Are Elected as Conference Here Is Brought To Close.

Predictions of a new social order with a leadership other than the industrialist and praise for Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt, of New York, as one of the nation's most constructive leaders in social relief and thought were heard at the final meeting of the Georgia conference on social work, which ended a four-day session at the Biltmore hotel Thursday with the election of Miss Gay B. Shepperson, of Atlanta, as president.

Mark F. Elbridge, managing editor of the Mason Telegraph and News, said that America should and would have a leadership with its feet firmly rooted in a practical knowledge of economics and its head capable of an idealistic conception of the function and place of industry in society.

"Man was not made for the exploitation of the industrialist, although that thought has been the basis of theory," he said, adding that eventually the country would prosper under government control of industry and that shorter working hours and days and weeks would be required to absorb vast numbers "who will have no jobs even when the present depression is over."

Mr. Elbridge said that a more equitable distribution of wealth and income is one of the major goals toward which people must work to find economic stability.

Carstens Lauds Roosevelt.
C. C. Carstens, executive director of the Child Welfare League of America, speaking on the subject, "What We Can Do About It," said that Governor Roosevelt proved his greatness last autumn when he directed through a legislative assembly of New York a bill for $20,000,000 for relief in that state.

Following up the praise for Governor Roosevelt, Mr. Carstens predicted another difficult winter—perhaps as hard as the last—and urged the workers attending the conference to be ready to advocate federal relief if such were necessary.

"However," he said, "I am not a federal relief agitator. But I do know of at least two states which need federal relief right now."

Speaking of conditions in Georgia, he said that reports from that state last October indicated that everything was well in the hands of the citizens and relief workers.

Mr. Carstens went on to advocate close attention of social workers to the need of recreation for children and attention to the problem of child delinquency.

"Idle hours for the boy and girl out of school and ready for work are dangerous and are certain to contribute to delinquency," he asserted.

To Augusta Next Year.
The final session saw a large attendance of social workers from all parts of the state. Following the election of officers, Augusta was chosen as the place of meeting for 1933.

Other new officers are Edward M. Kahn, executive director of the Atlanta Federation of Jewish Charities, first vice president; Judge Solon Davis, of Columbus, second vice president; Mark Elbridge, of Macon; H. Daugherty, of Macon; Forrester B. Washington, Horace Russell, both of Atlanta; Hugh N. Fuller, of Emory University, and Miss Eloise Cleveland, of Savannah, executive committee.

Resolutions adopted at the final meeting directed the attention of the state departments to the importance of the department of public welfare and raised Governor Richard B. Russell Jr. and the administration for work of reorganization, and paid tribute to the efficiency and resourcefulness of Miss Shepperson as secretary of the public welfare department.

Discussion regarding the negroes' part in the social structure were given by H. H. Hunt, president of Fort Valley High school, industrial school, and by Zachary Hubert, field secretary of the Negro Country Life Association.

U. S. LINES BUILDING TWO NEW LINERS

An encouraging report on the activities of the United States Lines to provide a bigger and better service for American travelers and shippers was made by A. H. Beisel, manager of the Atlanta office of the Roosevelt-International Mercantile Marine Company, in a statement to The Atlanta Constitution, upon his return

Thursday from a visit to Camden and Hoboken, N. J.

Mr. Beisel visited the ship yards of the New York Shipbuilding Company, at Camden, N. J., where he reports progress of work on the Manhattan, largest steamer ever to be built in this country. Her sister ship, still unnamed, is progressing rapidly toward early completion.

In Hoboken, where Mr. Beisel spent Sunday, the process of redecorating and refitting America's greatest liner, the Leviathan, is being undertaken with a view to giving travelers added luxury and comfort on the steamer.

Considerable interest attaches to the fact that this year the Leviathan's itinerary has been altered to include Bremen and her first arrival in that port, early in May, will be the occasion of a gala civic welcome by officials and businessmen of the city. The Leviathan's full itinerary will be Plymouth, Cherbourg, Bremen, eastbound, and Southampton, Cherbourg, New York, westbound. Her first sailing from New York is scheduled for April 26.

Social News of Varied Interests

Poetry Forum of Atlanta Writers' Club met Sunday at the Candler hotel in Decatur, with Minnie Hite Moody, internationally known writer, as honor guest. She holds membership in the Poetry Society of America, and is the winner of numerous prizes for outstanding literary work. She won the Seymour prize for 1932, offered annually by the Poetry Society of Georgia, as well as the society prize for 1931, and is a member of several national literary societies, while examples of her poems are included in various anthologies.

Mrs. Moody read selections from her poems, including "Say This of Horses," a sonnet sequence which was awarded first place at a recent meeting of the Poetry Society of America; "Sonnet to Starboard," awarded this year's Seymour prize; "Four Moons of Rain," "The Oud Barn," "Of Women Dreaming," "Epilogue," and many others.

Mrs. Moody's poetry is of unusual quality, strength and depth, and shows an amazing and catholic knowledge of human strengths and weaknesses. For beauty of finish and structure her poems possess few equals. That portion of her work dealing with animals is very successful, presenting a sympathetic understanding of the animal world.

CHILDREN'S SOCIETY OF STATE ORGANIZED

The Children's Service Society of Georgia, successor of the Georgia Child Welfare Committee, was formally organized at a luncheon meeting held at the Henry Grady hotel Thursday afternoon and Eugene R. Black, who has been serving for the past year as chairman of the child welfare committee, was named president.

Mrs. R. K. Haddo, was named chairman of the executive committee, which is composed of Dr. Willis A. Eutton, Kendall Weisiger, Julian Boehm, Mrs. T. C. Hudson and Mrs. Ed Harrold.

The Children's Service Society of Georgia succeeds the Georgia Child Welfare Committee and assumes the work of that committee, while members of the committee automatically become charter members of the new organization. Its purpose, as set forth in the society's constitution, is "to receive, care and provide for destitute, neglected, ill-treated, abandoned and orphaned children of Georgia."

An advisory council was approved Thursday, which is to consist of all former members of the Georgia Child Welfare Committee and this will be enlarged at various times by action of the board of directors. The board of directors selected is comprised of Eugene R. Black, president; Julian Boehm, first vice president; Mrs. R. P. Shepard, of Griffin, second vice president; Miss Rhoda Kaufman, secretary; J. S. Kennedy, treasurer; Mrs. T. C. Hudson, of Columbus; Mrs. James Maddox, of Rome; Mrs. Ed Harrold, of Macon; Dr. C. Woodward, of Atlanta; Dr. Witherspoon Dodge, of Atlanta; Mrs. R. K. Rambo, Atlanta; Mrs. Neill Kitchen, Warm Springs; Mrs. W. A. Turner, Newnan; Dr. W. W. Alexander, Atlanta; Dr. David Marx, Atlanta; Kendall Weisiger, Atlanta; Charles N. Walker, Atlanta; Cliff Hatcher, Waynesboro; Hal Voorhis, Atlanta; Mrs.

DRENNON QUALIFIES FOR COUNCIL RACE

Qualification of Councilman Raleigh E. Drennon, of the ninth ward, to succeed himself, and announcement of R. H. Cobb, of 769 Park street, that he will oppose Councilman Philip W. Breitenbacher, of the first, and of Roy A. Brooks, of 75 Lakeview drive, that he will oppose Councilman Tom M. Smith, of the twelfth ward, featured local politics Thursday.

Drennon thus far is unopposed in so far as a qualified entry is concerned. Cobb has been a Southern railway conductor for 15 years. He is married and is prominent in fraternal activities.

Brooks resigned his position as secretary of the South Side Civic Federation to make the race, and formerly was secretary of the Twelfth Ward Improvement Club.

Dr. Samuel Green, chairman of the democratic executive committee, announced that qualifications for the primary may be made up until noon, April 16, at 306 Peters building.

The following statement was issued by Brooks:

"I hereby announce my candidacy for councilman from the twelfth ward, subject to the democratic primary. In so doing I am not my intention to merely oppose our representative whose place I aspire to, but because I believe that I can be of great service to our ward. Within the next few days I will issue a formal statement of my candidacy."

Clifford Walker, Atlanta, and Mrs. F. G. Hodgson, also of Atlanta. At Thursday's meeting J. J. West, of Albany, chairman of the child welfare division of the Georgia department of the American Legion, announced that the Legion has voted a contribution of $125 to the Children's Service Society as its contribution to the child welfare work in the state at large. Dr. C. C. Carstens, executive secretary of the Child Welfare League of America, was the principal speaker at the session Thursday afternoon.

HOWARD CANDLER NABS WILD COON NEAR SON'S HOME

Charles Howard Candler acted on an impulse Thursday morning that resulted in his capturing single-handed, and subduing, a thoroughly wild, half-grown coon.

The capture effected, Mr. Candler gave a thought to the amenities of coon-raising with the result that he chained his catch to a tree in his son's back yard and proceeded to his office, leaving on Charles Howard Candler Jr. the burden of deciding whether to feed the brute, kill it or keep it for a pet. At a late hour last night Mr. Candler still had the coon. Persistent barking of two fox terriers prompted Mr. Candler to investigate while on a visit to his son's home on Lullwater parkway. The coon was perched in a tree as far from the barking terriers as he could climb.

WATCHMAN DROPPED AFTER ESCAPE PROBE

Discharge of W. W. Pence, night watchman in a South Camp building, from which six negro convicts escaped early Thursday morning, was announced by C. F. Collier, deputy warden, following an investigation of the escape. Collier said that further investigation may result in discharge or suspension of other camp employees. Three of the convicts were recaptured within a short time after they escaped through a hole bored in the floor of the building. Those prisoners are Lonnie Davis, who was shot in the left hip; George Nunnally and James Hill, long-time felons. The convicts still at liberty are James Alvin Jones, Willie J. Crawford and John Ponder, also felons.

The escapes Thursday morning followed the unsuccessful break for liberty of six white convicts Tuesday afternoon from the College Park golf course. All of the white convicts have been recaptured.

Columbian Players To Repeat Comedy

Columbian Players, a theatrical group of wide popularity, will repeat a three-act comedy by Katherine Kavanaugh, entitled "Who Wouldn't Be Crazy," in the auditorium of Marist College at 8 o'clock Monday evening, April 11. The initial performance of this comedy was given the latter part of February for the benefit of the athletic fund of Marist College. A capacity house greeted the performance. The St. Vincent de Paul, Sacred Heart alumni, and the Knights of Columbus are sponsoring the second performance. The proceeds will be divided.

The cast includes John Tischer, Miss Alice Minahan, William Farrell, Miss Gladys Eves, Miss Charlotte Magill, Erwin Dicks, Felix Commagere, Charles J. Kelly Jr., Miss Marie Louise Commagere, Miss Dolly McElroy, P. H. Holleran, Misses Mary Browning, Ethel Lee Harvey, Patricia Collins, Miss Irene Harvey, Clarence Murphy, Jerome Clark. This unusually large cast of 18 players is under the supervision of Charles R. Cannon, director of the Columbian Players, the other officers are Charles J. Kelly, president; John Tischer, vice president; Miss Irene Harvey, secretary; Erwin Dicks, treasurer; Bill McAlpin, business manager; C. J. Sullivan, property man.

Tickets for the performance are 50 cents and can be secured from the above societies or by telephoning Columbian Club, Hemlock 8568.

Rabun Gap-Nacoochee Guild Gives Tea.

Friends of Rabun Gap-Nacoochee school attended the tea given at Rick's tea room Friday in honor of the alumni, 25 and 30 of the former students were introduced, some journeying from other states to be present. The principal address was made by the Rev. P. D. Miller, a graduate of Nacoochee, and the pastor of a group of churches in Rabun county. His subject was "I Believe in Rabun Gap-Nacoochee." He told interesting things in connection with the way the school is reaching out to the boys and girls in this mountain section, and spoke of the advantageous position the school occupies at the junction of the state of Georgia, North Carolina and South Carolina. Mrs. J. K. Calt gave a talk concerning the welfare of the 500 baby chicks sent by the guild in February.

Mrs. Murray Hubbard, first vice chairman of the Rabun Gap-Nacoochee Guild, presided in the place of Mrs. J. J. Goodrum, the chairman. Mrs. Hubbard stated that the guild numbers 600 with others enrolling, and introduced the officers and directors. The musical program featured Bowen Davis, a boy violinist, who was accompanied by Miss Helen Kelly, representative of the Juillard Foundation of New York. Mrs. Elyse Carswell rendered vocal numbers, her contralto voice showing to splendid advantage.

THE WONDERLAND OF OZ No. 5.

As old Mombi said "Pumpkin," Jack Pumpkinhead stepped back a pace and said, in a reproachful voice, "Don't shout at me like that. Do you think I'm deaf?" At this old Mombi was everjayed. She danced with delight. She threw her cane into the air and caught it. She hugged herself with both arms and tried to do a step of a jig, all the time repeating rapturously, "He lives!—He lives!—He lives!"

Finally she became quiet. "What do you know?" she asked curiously. "Well, that is hard to tell," replied Jack. "For although I feel that I know a tremendous lot, I am not yet aware how much there is in the world to learn. It would be no more than to discover whether I am very wise or very foolish." "That's so," said Mombi, then—"Can you walk?" "Of course I can walk," replied Jack gravely. "Probably as well as you can."

This remark, made in Jack's grave voice, so little fitted the jolly smile which his face wore that Tip was no longer able to contain his laughter. At first he had been so frightened and horrified that he wanted to run away but his legs trembled so badly that he could not. Then it struck him as very funny that Jack had come to life, especially as the expression on his pumpkin face was so droll. So, recovering from his first fright, Tip began to laugh.

At first old Mombi was surprised at the merry peals of laughter. But only for a moment. She saw Tip who had risen from behind the bush. Then she hobbled quickly to where he stood. She seized his ear and dragged him back to where she had left her basket and the pumpkin-headed man. "You naughty, sneaking, wicked boy," she exclaimed, frowning. "I'll teach you to spy out my secrets and make fun of me."

FRIENDLY COUNSEL BY CAROLINE CHATFIELD

Problems of general interest submitted by readers will be discussed in this column. Correspondence invited. Your name held in confidence. Write Miss Chatfield, care The Atlanta Constitution.

DEAR MISS CHATFIELD:

I married a girl a few months before I had to leave to go to France with the army. When I returned we had a dear little baby girl. Having no job we went to live with her parents. I soon got established but continued to make my home with the family. I soon discovered to my dismay that my wife whom I loved fondly was a nagger of the worst sort and I formed the habit of staying out of ear shot as much as possible. I began to drink. A second child was born. Don't misunderstand me I am not claiming that I was perfect, but I did love my wife and do still love her. She left me five years ago and my daughters are nearly grown now. She suggested that we correspond but she will not bear to come back to me. I help to support the family although she works too. I have nothing but them to live with and I want them to come back to me. I have settled down, quit drinking and have a pretty good job, considering these times. Can't you tell me what to do and what to say to win her again?

MISERABLE.

ANSWER:

Why is it that these reneging husbands, deserted by resentful wives, imagine that they can win and woo their wives a second time by letter? A young, sentimental girl, whose emotions are easily stirred and whose belief in the sincerity of all men has never been shaken, might be wooed and won by mail, but the bride-to-be, wife, never. Her emotions are called by the experience leading up to separation and by the experiences that have come to her as a result of separation from her husband. She has been forced to put her mind on the economic considerations of life. She has had to work to support her children and she has had to mourn for their fatherless condition. She once had romance and discovered in it more pain than pleasure. Now she has buried it in her own heart and she isn't interested in disinterested it.

And so I would suggest, to you that you go a-courting. Mr. Miserable, and with these new resolves firmly established in your mind go to see your ex-wife and try to make her understand that you are anxious to wipe clean the soiled slate of the past, forgive her for her nagging and ask her to forgive you your shortcomings and transgressions and on that basis ask her to try again to live with you. If nagging brought on drinking, nagging will bring on drinking again. If drinking brought on nagging (which is conceivable), it may do the same thing a second time.

There are many advantages to you both in a reconciliation, to say nothing of advantages to the children, but they must be recognized as such by both parties if they are indeed to accrue to either of you.

CAROLINE CHATFIELD.

Culbertson on Contract

Always the Suit First

BY ELY CULBERTSON.

World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst

A vivid illustration of the superiority of Approach bidding occurred in the recent final session of the eastern championship tournament for the possession of the Reisinger cup, emblematic of team-of-four supremacy. Two of the greatest Contract teams in the world were pitted against each other. The Bridge World team were Mrs. Culbertson and Messrs. Waldemar von Zedtwitz, Theodore A. Lightner and Michael Goldberg. Playing against them was the team, the captain of which was P. Hal Sims, who had as teammates Messrs. Willard Karn, Oswald Jacoby and David Burnstine.

Almost all Contract players have learned that the best results are attained in almost all bidding situations by opening the bidding with suit bids and gradually approaching the correct (final) contract. Mr. Sims is a believer in the Approach principle, but is considerably of an individualist, which, on the hand below, proved extremely disadvantageous.

West—Dealer.

Neither side vulnerable.

North—Dealer.

Neither side vulnerable.

West North East South

10 Pass INT Pass

3NT Pass Pass Pass

1—One diamond would be better.

Contrast this bidding with that in the other room, where Mr. Lightner held the same hand as Mr. Sims, and Mr. Gottlieb held Mr. Karn's cards.

West North East South

10 Pass INT Pass

3NT Pass Pass Pass

Mr. Sims was defeated 2 in his contract of three notrump. Mr. Gottlieb made one notrump.

A Raise of an Opening bid of one notrump is clearly indicated with East's holdings, but if West opens with a bid of one diamond and East responds with a bid of one notrump, West's hand does not justify a Raise to three notrump, nor, in fact, does it particularly suggest any further action at all. If partner can merely overcall a bid of one diamond with one notrump, it carries with it the inference that he does not have a bid-dable suit to show. West's distributional values are practically nil, and thus, when partner responds with a bid of one notrump, showing also marked lack of distributional values, further bid eye-though, holding 3-2 honor-tricks, is extremely questionable.

TODAY'S POINTER.

The Approach principle, which requires that on hands containing a choice between opening with a suit bid or notrump, the suit should first be bid, works with almost unerring accuracy, both in making easier the choice of the correct eventual declaration and in avoiding losses due to no-trump opening bids.

Tomorrow's Hand.

The bidding and play of the hand printed below will be discussed tomorrow.

North—Dealer.

Neither side vulnerable.

West North East South

QUESTIONS ANSWERED.

Mr. Culbertson will be glad to answer questions on bidding and play of hands sent in by readers. Address him in care of The Atlanta Constitution, enclosing a two-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Mrs. Gordon Donor Of Miniatures

Additions to Georgia's collection of portrait miniatures were presented recently to the Memorial hall by the late Mrs. John B. Gordon, who, before her death, gave the order to Mrs. George P. Elliott, of Augusta, to paint a likeness of her distinguished husband, the late General John B. Gordon.

So pleased was Mrs. Gordon over the workmanship and excellent likeness of General Gordon, of Confederate fame, and who served as chief executive of Georgia, that she ordered a miniature of herself to be painted by the talented artist, Mrs. Elliott. Mrs. Gordon was the donor of both portraits, but hers was not begun until after her death. The pictures were presented to Miss Ruth Blair, state historian, and the exquisite miniatures are on exhibition at the Rhodes Memorial hall on Peachtree road.

HEADACHES

"If I have the headache or feel the need of a purgative, I take Black-Draught," says Mr. Edgar Gumble, of 115 Fowler Ave., Hopkinton, Ky. "It is easy to take and quick to relieve. I used to have dull headaches. My eyes would burn and when I would stoop over I seemed to turn blind. This isn't much of a good feeling when one has to work, and I have had to work hard in my time, being a timber man. This work takes me from home a good deal and one never likes to get sick, especially away from home. I found the best way to avoid this was to take an occasional dose of Black-Draught, and keep the system cleansed."

Mrs. Gershon Named on Directors' Board Of National Council of Jewish Women

Mrs. Harry M. Gershon, of the Atlanta section of the National Council of Jewish Women, was elected as a member of the national board of directors at the thirteenth triennial meeting of the national council in Detroit, Mich., last week.

Mrs. Gershon has served with distinction as president of the southern interstate conference for the past four years, and is well known in Atlanta for her social work and many other activities.

There are 31 members on the board of the National Council of Jewish Women, chosen from all parts of the United States and Canada, and the selection of Mrs. Gershon is a tribute to her outstanding ability as well as a recognition of the work she has done.

The Atlanta section of the National Council of Jewish Women was represented at the convention by Mrs. Armand Wylie, local president; Mrs. Ernest Morrison, and Mrs. Henry Solomonson, delegates, and Mrs. Ernest Horowitz, alternate.

Mrs. Boyd D. Quarles, director of the Mission Study Institute, of the B. W. M. U. Atlanta Association, to be held at the Druid Hills Baptist church April 12, 13, 14, announces that all the organizations planning to participate in the poster exhibit should observe the new specifications outlined by the W. M. U. of the Southern Baptist convention, if the posters are to compete for the blue ribbon awards at the convention in May at St. Petersburg, Fla.

Many of the posters have been too large at former exhibits throughout the state, the ideal size being 18 by 24 inches, or smaller if desired. Several awards of merit at the Southern Baptist convention and others will be selected this year at the Mission Study Institute. Leaders of the W. M. U. and directors of the auxiliaries are planning an extensive display of posters and handwork at the Druid Hills church next week, much of the exhibit having been made by the young people's organizations. Serving as judges to select the most instructive and the most attractive posters will be Mrs. J. H. Zachry, vice president of the Woman's Missionary Union; Mrs. E. M. Bailey, state mission study leader, and Mrs. L. O. Freeman, superintendent of the Atlanta association, B. W. M. U.

Mrs. J. V. Woodruff, poster chairman of the institute, has requested that all auxiliaries which cannot get their posters to the Druid Hills Baptist church by Monday will please leave them at the Baptist Book store, 317 Palmer building.

McConnell Class To Meet Tonight.
McConnell Business Women's Class of the Druid Hills Baptist Sunday school will hold a monthly business and social meeting at the church this evening. A fried chicken supper will be served at 6:30 o'clock by group No. 4, with Mrs. Ralph Johnson in charge. Mrs. W. T. Henry will be the speaker.

STATION L-O-V-E BY CRAIG CARROLL

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE? When Judy Allison had been in Chicago for six months without finding work her father had her to return to her small-town home. Downcast by her failure, she went to the tea room in her rooming house. Dick Mason, chief radio announcer at WAGA, sat at the table. Impulsively Judy showed Dick her father's telegram. Following Dick's insistence, she reported for work the following morning. From all the applicants, she was chosen for the "Beauty Builders" program. While Judy was talking with Elton Day, writer of script for her program, Lona nudged her down "for some new kid from the country." Day tells Judy Lona is a trouble-maker. While Judy was rehearsing with Elton, he received a telephone call which greatly disturbed him. When Judy reached home that night she found a telegram from Elton Day which read, "Don't report for work tomorrow. Had to give the part to someone else." Judy was preparing to go home to Kansas when Dick persuaded her to report at the studio the following morning.

CHAPTER XXI.

Judy knew her father. Success had only one test with him and that was how much money you got for it and how much you could put in the bank. Even when she was giving little recitals he wanted to know why she would not charge admission.

"Oh," said Dick. "There's Billy. And, louder, "Billy! Come here a minute, will you?"

Billy had a shock of hair, a grin which showed several gold teeth, smudges across his nose and down one cheek and a pair of overalls.

"Hello," he said. "Been working on a loud-speaker. Got a lot of dirt on me, I guess. I—Ohhhhh! He stared open-mouthed at Judy.

"Judy this is Billy Denton. Billy, this is Miss Allison."

"Glad to know you," Billy said, proving it with an even wider grin.

"You professing?" Judy asked, interrupted with "Miss Allison has been doing a lot of radio work in the east. She's just come here and she's auditioning for the Beauty Builders this morning."

"Well, hope you get it," said Billy. Then, softly, "Only why a pretty girl should want to be a radio actress—"

"Billy, would you help me a minute?" Dick asked.

"Sure, Dick. What with?"

"Will you cut in this microphone? I want to put Miss Allison through a time rehearsal. Watch your mixer. Make it good, Billy."

"Sure, Dick. Whenever you're ready."

He grinned again at Judy, ducked his head, hurried into the room with the glass wall—the room into which Judy had started the first time she faced the microphone.

"Get your script!" Dick asked now, suddenly terse, businesslike, watching the big clock high on the wall.

"Yes."

"All right. Stand here. Put the pages on the table. Turn them one at a time. To the side. Be very sure you turn them smoothly, so they won't rattle. And, look, Judy!" He spread one hand, then dropped it quickly.

"That means 'start.' And if I do this—" He tightened his finger into his palm, quickly, again and again—"that means 'lighten it up.'"

"Tighten?" Judy asked.

"Yes. That is—," he laughed. "Sorry. That means speed up, Time's short. And if I do this—," he spread his palms, moved them to the sides slowly.

"I see," said Judy. "That means go slower."

"Right. Now stand up straight. Don't let your breathing be heard. Space the words so they won't run over. And don't let your voice die away at the end of the sentence. And don't talk loudly. You don't need to. The first time people go on the air they think they have to shout. But just talk quietly and slowly. And feel what you're saying. Judy, I know it's terrible stuff you have to read, but never mind. Make yourself think it's the finest stuff you've read in your life. Get excited, even."

Suddenly, just back of Judy's head, a terrific voice roared "Seven!" She stifled an involuntary scream, jumped sideways, stared, her hand to her mouth. And behind her again the terrible voice roared "Eleven!" And then, quickly, from all around her came the same voice shouting gibberish, chanting, yelling, singing.

Dick, laughing, waved his hand toward the glass-walled room. Now she saw the gold-toothed radio man, apparently shouting at her.

"Testing the channels on the microphones," Dick explained, still laughing. "There's a dramatic program on right after us, and they use four microphones. He's just seeing if they're all O. K. And if they are, he's ready. And I'll give you the signal. And—"

Suddenly his voice softened. "Judy, I'm doing all I can in there when the audition goes on. I mean, you won't be able to see me, because I'll be with the client. But I'm counting on you. Try, won't you?"

She felt very warm, for the first time in many hours.

"I'll try my best," she promised. "Then, "Dick, you're—the nicest man I've ever known. Thank you, Dick."

He might step forward, he might put his arms around her, he might say the things he had come so near to saying last night, he might—He did not. He stood staring, a strange light line around his mouth. Then, without a word, he walked out of the studio, closed the door, and Judy saw him behind the glass in the control room, standing alongside Billy. She stared at the glass. Dick. He did not seem to see her at all.

Then she realized that he was ordering her to begin. She picked up the script, dropped it back on the table.

turned slightly, looked up, faced the metal thing that somehow, by some magic quite beyond her understanding, could send a voice as small as hers clear across America. Then, slowly, very carefully, breathing as she learned to breathe when she studied singing, she began.

"Good morning. This is the Beauty Builders. Every morning at this same hour I bring you the newest—"

Dick came into the studio hurriedly. He turned Judy's head a little. "Talk across the microphone more," he said.

"But I thought you had to talk straight into it," Judy said.

"Not always," Dick said curtly. "Depends on your voice. Your voice depends too much when you talk directly into the mike. You know, that's how Amos 'n' Andy work all those extra voices. They do them all themselves. But it's a question of just how they stand, how far from the mike, how they turn their heads, whether they talk across or straight into or on an angle—all that."

He disappeared through the open door again, he reappeared back of the glass, he signaled for her to begin. And Judy, her mind whirling, began.

But as she read the words Elton Day had written she kept wondering about Dick Mason. Why he had drawn away from her so suddenly, so utterly. Why there was always a line of worry about his deep eyes, and a tight, hard line around his mouth.

"I do much of my own sewing," she heard her voice saying. Judy Allison, who worked six weeks on a pair of bloomers in sewing class at school, and then was told by her instructor that she had sewed them inside out! Judy Allison giving advice on sewing! Funny! Too funny!

"I recommend that you try this experiment for yourself." What experiment? Suddenly, for the first time, Judy was conscious of what she was reading. And she was conscious, too, of a faint and growing admiration for Elton Day.

He knew the tricks, as he had said. He made this sound like an honest, heart-to-heart talk—which was what it was called. He made every sentence sound as though the speaker had thought of it only that moment. No wonder he could get radio-writing jobs. No wonder it went so easily from her tongue. As long as she went straight ahead, not stopping and starting as his writing indicated, she couldn't go wrong, she couldn't fail to sound convincing.

Peggy Lee Patterns

LINE EMPHASIS.

Pattern No. 175-A.

A dainty affair to be worn for informal afternoon or evening occasions. Neatness and style distinguish it. The slim molded lines are accentuated by deep encrustations at the hips. Two rows of fagoting define a caplet line in front, and end in V-shape in back. Small bows at the belt and at each row of fagoting add a feminine touch. Sheer fabric is suggested, a material that will bring out the softness of line and detail.

Designed in sizes 14, 16, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44. Size 36 requires 4 yards of 36-inch fabric or 3 3/4 yards of 39-inch fabric.

To get a pattern of this model send fifteen cents (15c) in coins. Please write very plainly your name and address, style number and size of each pattern ordered.

Our new fashion magazine with color supplement and Paris style news is now available at 15c.

Atlanta Kennel Club Opens Greatest Show in History Today PETRELS PLAY TECH IN DIXIE LEAGUE TODAY

KENNEL CLUB SPONSORS BEST SHOW OF ALL

Toy Dogs First To Be Judged; Entries From All Over.

Clattering hammers finished up the last of the kennels last night in the big show room at 419 Peachtree and all in readiness for the first ring in the annual Atlanta Kennel Club dog show which begins this morning at 11 o'clock.

The show is the greatest one Atlanta has ever had. Despite the fact that last year saw a large list of entries, the 1931 list was topped by at least a dozen when the dog owners filed their papers for the 1932 show.

There are about 200 entries and this morning will find the cars coming in with dogs from California, Canada and other far away points.

There will be some magnificent dogs in all breeds at the show this year. The wire-haired terrier class and the shepherd classes will be as keenly competed as those held in the large eastern shows. The winners from those shows are here for the Atlanta showing.

COMPETITION.
Hetherington Teetotaler, the wire which won best of breed last season, is back. He will have some competition from some other great wires in Atlanta and from out of town.

The Pekes will be judged this morning. They will be followed by the Poms, the toy black and tans and the other toy breeds.

In the afternoon the airdales, setters, pointers, beagles, spaniels, dachshunds and wolf hounds will be judged. The evening will be judging the sealhams, Scottish terriers and the wire and smooth fox terriers.

The Saturday program will be equally as interesting. It will be climaxed by the best in show and variety group selections in the evening.

Charles G. Hopton, of New York, will judge all breeds. He is one of the best known men in the dog game. The show room at 419 Peachtree street offer seats arranged in tiers from which the ring may be seen to advantage. The kennels are placed so that spectators may see the dogs at any time.

The Junior League will receive all the profits from the show for their hospital maintained for the crippled children.

Everything points to the most successful show in the long years the kennel club has been staging them.

EMORY NETTERS DEFEAT MERCER

Freshmen Open Season With 5-to-1 Victory on Dewey Courts.

Emory University's freshman tennis team opened its 1932 season by defeating the Mercer freshmen 5-1 Thursday afternoon at Dewey courts at Emory.

Frank Morrison, ranking Emory player, trounced Ben Smith, Mercer, 6-2, 6-0. Daily Smith, Mercer's second best player, lost to Emory's number one player, 6-3, 6-2. Jack Browning, Emory, made the score 3-1 by defeating David Wilson, Mercer, 6-2, 6-2.

Emory won both doubles matches by three-set scores. Morrison and Kingdon defeated Ben and Daly Smith, 6-3, 3-6, 6-3. George Niles and Kenneth Counts, Emory, added the fifth point to Emory's total by coming back to overcome Heywood Vann and David Wilson, Mercer, 6-3, 6-4.

The Mercer freshmen encounter Georgia Tech's freshman team this afternoon at Tech.

Emory Plays Jackets Today

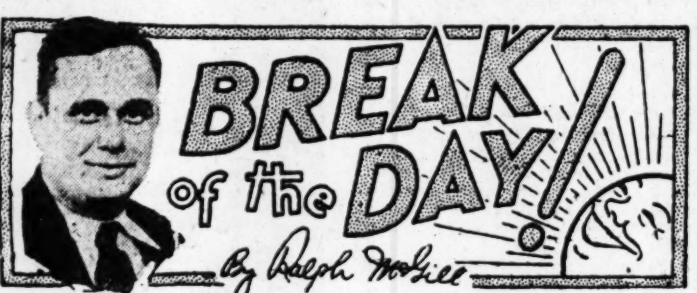

Emory University's undefeated varsity golf team meets Georgia Tech's squad at 1:30 this afternoon at Druid Hills. A close match is expected. A return match will be played later at East Lake.

Thus far Emory and Tech have defeated the same teams by nearly the same scores in each match. Both trounced Furman, 14-4, and Emory defeated Davidson, 13-5, while the latter lost to Tech by a 11-7 score.

Hal Bejin Certain Cracker Starter

Hal Bejin, by his performance against Hartford yesterday, is certain of starting the season at first base for the Crackers. Manager Barron announced last night that he intended opening with Bejin at first against Nashville Tuesday.

In addition to fielding brilliantly, Bejin also has been hitting well. Yesterday he got three singles and was robbed of a possible double on a one-handed catch by Vickers on the right-field bench.

If, by any chance you went out to Bill's last night and have a well-developed case of charred keg nerves this morning, it might be well to stay away from the dog show. Otherwise he there.

The dogs like it, I think. The great bell-mouthed Danes, the shrill wire-haired terriers, the squeaking Pekes (I do not like Pekes), the soprano Sealhams, the bass St. Bernards and the raucous Schnauzers, make up a Wagnerian, cacophonous symphony which will do things to charred keg nerves. And how they like to let go.

There will be moments when there is just an undertone of sound. It is something like the tuning up of an orchestra in the pit before the play begins. There are scattered yelps, or trial soundings of the "A" in dogdom's mighty orchestra. And then, all of a sudden, one dog will sound off and they will all be off in one mighty, swelling, cascade of sound.

I like the wire-haired terriers best. That is for sound. They are really wired for sound. One can stand before their kennels and give the old ear drums a fit—a real going over.

They are great things, these dogs shows. Do not, of course, try to pet the dogs unless you are sure they understand. Because they do not care for strangers coming up and rubbing their ears. The Danes are all right. The Great Dane is nature's nobleman in the dog world. He will not care for strangers patting his head but he will take it with a nonchalance which seems to say, "Oh, well. If you must."

They are great out there with the judge looking them over. And a dog KNOWS. He knows he isn't just out there for fun. And some of them are such consummate actors that they make the show positively delightful.

And so, by all means attend the dog show. It is well worth one's while. And there are some dogs there that are dogs, so to speak.

A GLASS SANDWICH.

Mr. Red DeWitt, who umpires up in the Argus-eyed Three-Eye league, was around yesterday recalling Buster Brown, the heavy-footed first baseman who was waived out of the Southern league when he was hitting .400.

Buster Brown played with the Nashville Vols. That was in the days when Larry Doyle, one-time great second baseman and field captain for the Giants, was at the helm in Nashville. Buster Brown was right handy with his dukes. He could move them much faster than his feet. And he was always willing. But his real act was eating glass.

One day Buster Brown went into a stool restaurant and ordered a ham sandwich. They brought it to him with the ham sliced as thin as a wafer. Whereupon Buster Brown became very angry indeed. He tossed the ham on the floor, put the saucer between the pieces of bread, and started eating it before the horrified eyes of the waiter who went hurriedly away and got the ham for Buster Brown to slice himself some ham. And when in strange places the Buster used to shock the boys by taking a bite out of his glass if he thought the drink wasn't large enough. He was quite a boy, was the Buster. And I guess the only man who was ever waived out of any league while hitting better than .400.

A REAL GOLF CARD.

That golf match at East Lake Sunday for the benefit of the Olympic fund should pull out quite a throng. It is a unique match in that it offers four men who are either present champions or past champions.

George Sargent, who is teamed with Bobby Jones, was national open champion in 1909. And Bobby Jones won a title or so. Really, he did. Ernie Ball is the Southeastern P. G. A. champion and Charley Yates is state and city champion.

Charley Yates is working with his swing. Which shows that the champions and the duffers are brothers under their skins. The movies taken by George Sargent showed Yates a flaw in his drive. Correction of this means that he will be a real threat in the Southern.

THE ENTERTAINING WEEK.

Come to think of it, the week is a terrifically busy one for those inclined to bustle about and take in all the real sports attractions on the schedule.

There are the Crackers and the Hartfords at the ball park each day this week. And on Saturday there is Big Bill Tilden at the Atlanta Tennis Club courts, on Argonne avenue, just off Ponce de Leon. And on Sunday Jones and Sargent play the youngsters at East Lake. And the dog show opens today and concludes Saturday evening.

In addition there are innumerable college and prep ball games, track meets, golf meets and tennis contests. Come to think of it I will just go over and lose an argument with the director about needing more space. There is a lot going on. And sports do not seem to be hit by the depression. In fact more people are playing than ever before.

IT SEEMS TO ME THAT—

Morris Bream, the young right-hander, has won a job with the Crackers. Si Rosenthal is sought after by two clubs and will go to one of them.

If Brother Morgan Blake would get one of The Constitution's fishing calendars he would see that fishing doesn't really get good until next week. And the calendar would have shown him he wouldn't catch anything this week.

Earl McCready, who wrestled Dick Shikat to a draw, is as good a bet for the wrestling title as any man when Jim London is finally pinned. McCready was a champion college grappler.

Don George, who comes here next week, hasn't quite recovered from the beating Ed (Strangler) Lewis gave him. I mean he hasn't recovered his one-time prestige.

The Crackers will have to put in a plug in the infield to keep games from leaking away.

'HELP AMERICA WIN' OLYMPICS; BUY A TICKET

Interest High in Jones and Sargent-Yates and Ball Match.

By Jack Troy.

Golfing enthusiasts making up the gallery for the Bobby Jones and George Sargent-Charley Yates and Ernie Ball exhibition golf match at East Lake Sunday will be helping to send American athletic teams to the Olympics this summer on the Pacific coast.

All money derived from the sale of tickets, which cost $1.50 apiece, is to go into the general fund. All over the country similar benefits are being staged for this most worthy purpose.

The Olympic games, which have been held in various countries since 1896, attract the cream of each country's athletic talent and sponsor international amity.

INTEREST HIGH.
Since the announcement in The Constitution that Yates and Ball, the brilliant young players, were to be matched against the veterans Jones and Sargent in the match over the No. 2 course at East Lake Sunday, interest has reached a new high.

Much speculation is being made as to the youngsters' ability to answer the challenge of the veterans. And there are many who believe they will turn back their formidable opponents ere the match is over.

Both Yates, who is Georgia and city amateur champion, and Ball, who last year won the Southeastern P. G. A. golf championship, are certain to make a great match of it. It is no more unusual for them to negotiate the course in par or sub-par figures than it is for Bobby Jones, the one and only, or George Sargent.

SEE JONES.
Then there will be the opportunity to see Jones in one of his infrequent appearances. The man who relinquished his golf throne to devote his time to business is still a top-ranking player. And Sargent, his partner, is a past master of the game.

Aiding Al Doonan, executive chairman of the local Olympic fund committee, are five attractive Junior League girls. They are Misses Jeanette Bailey, Eugenia Candler, Claire Hanna, Nancy Simpson and Mrs. Nisbet Mayne. Who be unto the men, male who refuses to buy a ticket from them!

Yates Plans Ambitious Slate.
Charley Yates, the 18-year-old Georgia amateur golf champion, has mapped out an ambitious campaign this summer.

In addition to defending his state crown over the Brookhaven course of the Capital City club here in July, Yates plans to enter the qualifying rounds for the national amateur and the national open and also play in the Southern amateur at Birmingham, Alabama.

These are the high spots of his summer's work on the links, but he also expects to participate in the Atlanta city championship, which he won last year, and several lesser invitation meets.

The game is better now than when he won the state title last summer at Sea Island Beach and his short game is improving rapidly since the East Lake Club's new professional, George Sargent, started coaching him.

Dinner Tourney Is Moved Back.
The Fulton County Medical Association will hold a golf match at the Druid Hills club next Wednesday.

The club dinner tournament, scheduled at Druid Hills April 14, has been moved back to April 21, in order not to conflict with the opening game of the Crackers here with Nashville. Harry Stephens, club pro, announced Thursday.

Cook, Dahlbender Win Pro-Amateur

Gene Cook and Gene Dahlbender, and A. J. Cochran and J. D. McConnell, with 60's, split the prizes in the weekly pro-amateur golf match played at West End Thursday afternoon.

Albert Jones, pro at West End, was host.

Piedmont Women Hold Meet Today

The Piedmont Park Women's Golf Association is having a one-day model tournament today.

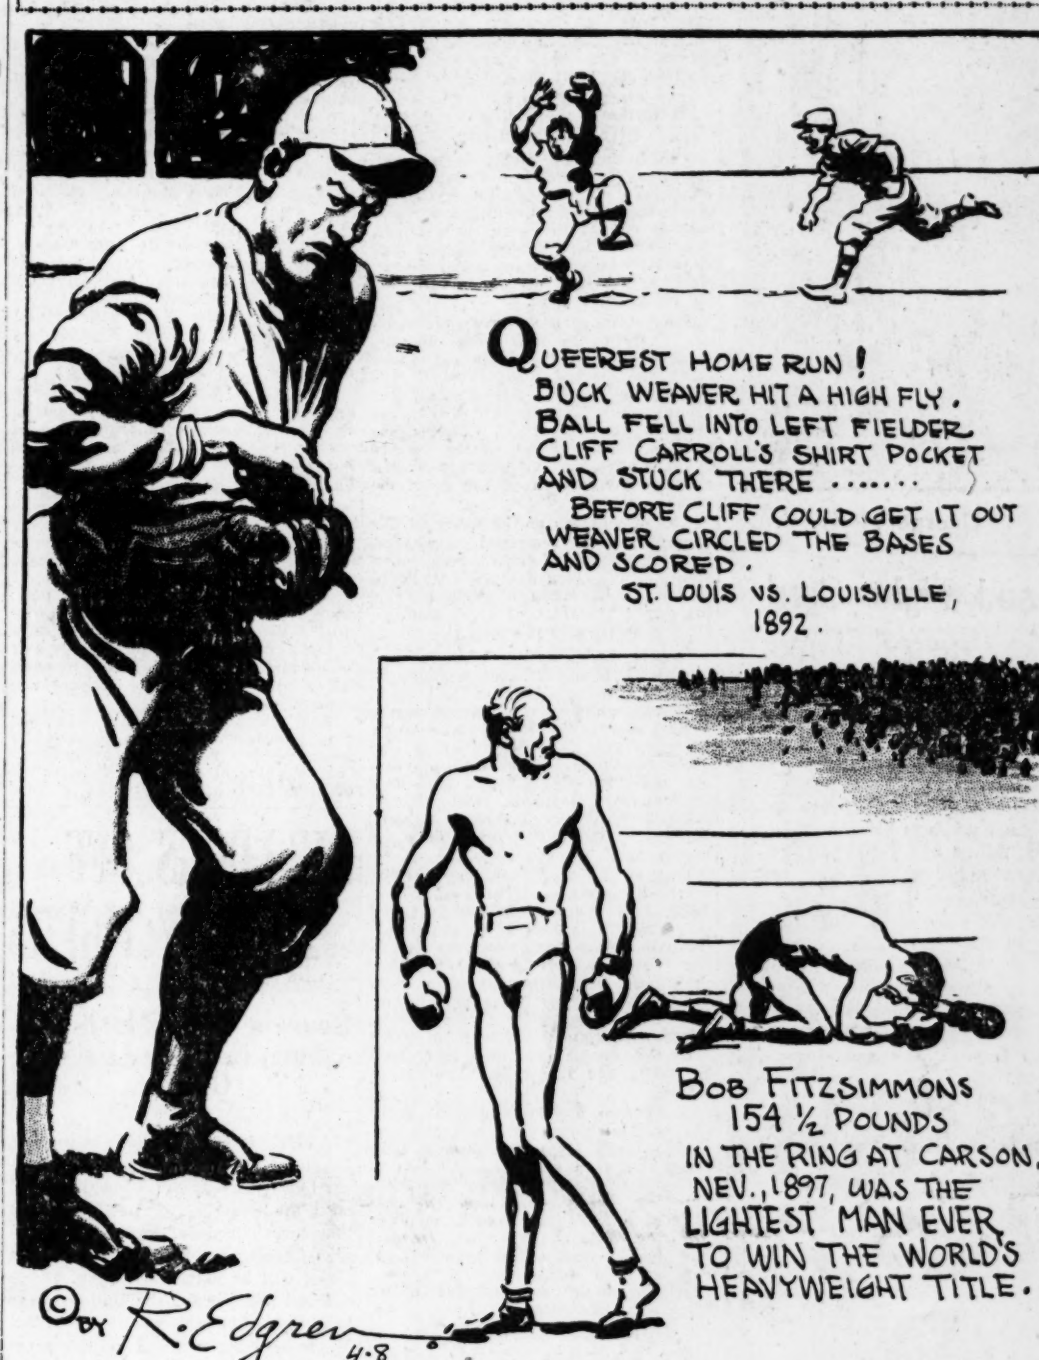

Billy Wilson, professional, is to be the host. Interest is high in the event and a large number of members of the association will take part.

Hartford Scribes Here With Team

Albert W. (Bert) Keane and A. B. McGinley, two of New England's best known sports writers, are in Atlanta with the Hartford baseball club.

Keane, sports editor of the Hartford Courant, and McGinley, sports editor and columnist of the Hartford Times, have been in the south all spring with the Hartford club, which trains every year in Marion.

Miracles of Sports By Robert Edgren

CRACKERS BEAT HARTFORD, 8-4

Johnny Morrison Goes Full Route as Atlanta Takes Opener.

By Jimmy Jones.

Johnny (Jughandle) Morrison, the veteran baseball bandle, mounted the rubber at Ponce de Leon park yesterday afternoon and pitched the full nine innings against Charley Moore's champion Hartford Senators, of the Eastern league, as the Crackers took the series opener, 8 to 4.

The right-handed curve was nicked for 14 hits by the New Englanders, but managed to spread them out sparsely enough to keep them from doing any great damage in any one inning.

It was Morrison's first trip over the route and he was the second Cracker pitcher to go nine innings this spring. Climax Blethen, who fired them for nine frames against the St. Louis Cardinals last week, was the first.

Hartford presented a team that is not yet at its full strength. Charley Moore is experimenting with a lot of youngsters, as the Eastern league season doesn't open until April 28. He figures on getting considerable more help from Brooklyn, the foster club.

Moore started Hanlon, a young right-hander against the veteran Morrison.

Auburn Star Is Chosen By Gage

AUBURN, Ala., April 7.—The greatest honor ever given a basketball player at Alabama Polytechnic Institute has been bestowed upon the sturdy shoulders of Jack Stewart, of Anniston, captain and star center of the Tigers' 1932 cage machine, semi-finalists at the annual Southern conference game tournament in Atlanta.

Stewart has been placed on College Humor's second All-American basketball team, chosen annually by Les Gage, sports editor of the humorous publication.

Standing 6 feet 5 1/2 inches, Stewart was able to control the tip at center and scored many two-pointers under the baskets. He finished the year as one of the high scorers in Dixie, was a remarkable floor man and a great defensive player. He was unable to reach his best form in the tournament because of a sprained ankle which threatened to keep him from playing at all during the championship grind.

This former Anniston High school Bulldog is also a high jumper of note, holding the conference record for this event at 6 feet 2 3/4 inches. He expects to jump his height.

College Humor's 1932 All-American basketball teams are: First team—Bender (Columbia) and Sale (Kentucky), forwards; Krause (Notre Dame), center, and Wooden (Purdue) and Berger (Maryland), guards.

Second team—Loughlin (Navy) and Linticum (U. C. L. A.), forwards; Stewart (Auburn), center, and Spahn (C. C. N. Y.) and Tackett (Butler), guards.

Even Old Georges To Try Comeback

NEW YORK, April 7.—(UP)—Georges Carpentier, of France, who reached the height of his pugilistic fame when he met Jack Dempsey in the original "Battle of the Century" in 1921, is the latest veteran to announce a comeback attempt.

"Georges Georges" plans to start training in a New York gymnasium for a campaign which he hopes will carry him once more into the "big time" and the big money.

Carpentier, since his defeat at Dempsey's hands, has spent most of his time on the vaudeville stage.

Jackpot Freshmen Play Mercer Today

Georgia Tech's freshman tennis team plays the Mercer freshmen Friday afternoon at Tech.

The lineup of the Baby Jackets is as follows: No. 1, Billy Reese; No. 2, H. O. Crawford; No. 3, M. C. Kiser; No. 4, Billy Glenn.

BARRON JOINS JUNIOR CHAMBER

Cracker Pilot Is Guest at Luncheon Meeting of Organization.

David Irenus Barron became a guest and subsequently a driving force of the Atlanta Junior Chamber of Commerce yesterday when he and officials of the club attended the regular weekly banquet held in the Chamber of Commerce dining room.

President L. W. (Chip) Robert, of the Crackers, was the first speaker on the program, driving the Jay-Cees for their decision to sponsor opening day and the energy they have shown in the campaign for 20,000 spectators opening day.

Barron followed with a speech in which he stated that he was making no promises of where his club would finish, but that Atlanta deserved a live wire organization like the Jay-Cees could do a great deal toward building up an indomitable spirit.

RECORD SPEAKS.
H. Y. McCord also made a speech, praising the Jay-Cees and their undertaking with the sports program.

While there was some talk of a deal, nothing has been done as yet between the Crackers and Lookouts. Bert Niehoff was a visitor in the city Wednesday but did not approach Red Barron with an offer for St. Rosen.

Chick Roos To Confer With Joe Engel Today

F. H. (Chick) Roos, business manager of the Atlanta baseball club, will confer with Joe Engel, of the Chattanooga Lookouts, by long-distance telephone at noon today regarding a possible disposal of one of the Crackers' Class A ball players.

While there was some talk of a deal, nothing has been done as yet between the Crackers and Lookouts. Bert Niehoff was a visitor in the city Wednesday but did not approach Red Barron with an offer for St. Rosen.

AUBURN MEETS GEORGIA CLUB IN BIG GAME

Mitchell To Pitch Against Mitchum at Rose Bowl Field.

By Jack Troy.

The Dixie College league formally opens today, with Auburn, champions last year, meeting Georgia at Auburn and Oglethorpe playing Tech at Rose Bowl field.

Oglethorpe and Florida met in the opening game of the league last week-end in Gainesville, Fla., but today's games send all teams except the unbeaten "Gators" into action.

The debut of the Stormy Petrels in the land of the palm and the pine was marked by a defeat and Coach Frank Anderson's club is out for revenge against the Jackets of Coach Bobby Dodd.

BIG GAME.
Chief interest is centered, however, around the Auburn-Georgia battle. The championship Tigers lost several stars by graduation, while Georgia, coached by Bill White, seems primed for one of her best seasons yet.

Captain Clifford Smith, All-American pitcher, will work on the mound against probably Spurgeon Chandler, ace pitcher of the Bulldogs. It should be a great hurling duel.

The burning question: "What are Auburn's chances to repeat?" will go a long way toward being solved after today's game. Of course, one game won't determine the caliber of Coach Sam McCallister's club, but it will help.

MITCHELL CHOSEN.
Coach Anderson plans to send Charley Mitchell, Auburn right-hander, out to pitch against Tech. Bobby Dodd likely will use Mitchum.

The opening performance of the "dick horses" will be highly anticipated with small degrees of anticipation. Oglethorpe, a hard-hitting team in exhibition games, has not shown much in league competition as yet. If and when the club gets going it will be hard to stop.

Auburn Plays Georgia Today

AUBURN, Ala., April 7.—The initial Dixie College league baseball games of the 1932 season for both Auburn and Georgia will be played at Auburn Friday and Saturday. Friday's contest will start promptly at 3:15 o'clock and the final clash of the two-game series is slated to begin Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

For the opening collegiate diamond conflict for the Plainsmen, the athletic authorities will charge 50 cents. A double athletic attraction is scheduled for Saturday with Tech and Oglethorpe battling the Bulldogs on the diamond and the Tulane Greenies in track, for which a dollar will be charged for both events.

Georgia, coached by Bill White, will meet the championship Tigers Friday on Drake field boasting of a record of three wins in four starts against college opponents. Tech, the Bulldogs have a large number of veterans and should finish the season on or near the top of the college circuit.

Coach Mitchell will probably start Spurgeon Chandler, who has already pitched a four-hit game against South Carolina this year; Hamilton or Nicholson on the mound, with Fleming at first, Fred Cress, sophomore catcher, at third, Costa at short, Young catching. Mitt in left, Catfish Smith in center and Gaston in right. Smith man.

Coach Sam McCallister will start his All-American pitching ace and captain, Clifford Smith, on the firing line Friday with Charles Kaley, All-Dixie league receiver, catching his numerous and baffling deliveries.

Ripper Williams, promising sophomore, will be nominated to toe the rubber in Saturday's game. Marion Tuller, Choctaw Creek, sophomore catcher, will go behind the plate. Charley George, hard-hitting sophomore left fielder, has not recovered from a knee injury sustained in a friendly fracas in a hotel room following the final Florida game at Gainesville and he will not play today.

Coach Bobby Dodd last night was undecided as to his lineup.

CARNER WINS.

LONDON, April 7.—(AP)—Primo Carnera, Italian heavyweight, outpointed Dan McCormick, of South Africa, in a 10-round bout at Albert hall tonight.

Chick Roos To Confer With Joe Engel Today

F. H. (Chick) Roos, business manager of the Atlanta baseball club, will confer with Joe Engel, of the Chattanooga Lookouts, by long-distance telephone at noon today regarding a possible disposal of one of the Crackers' Class A ball players.

While there was some talk of a deal, nothing has been done as yet between the Crackers and Lookouts. Bert Niehoff was a visitor in the city Wednesday but did not approach Red Barron with an offer for St. Rosen.

The lineup of the Baby Jackets is as follows: No. 1, Billy Reese; No. 2, H. O. Crawford; No. 3, M. C. Kiser; No. 4, Billy Glenn.

The doubles lineup is Reese and Crawford, No. 1; Kiser and Glenn, No. 2.

Annual G. I. A. A. Track Meet To Be Held at Grant Field Today

GEORGIA'S BEST PREP ATHLETES VIE FOR HONORS

Program Begins at 2 O'Clock; Atlanta Enters Strong Squads.

Historic Grant field, where crack collegiate runners once gathered annually to settle track and field supremacy, will be the scene this afternoon at 2 o'clock of the annual G. I. A. A. track and field meet.

The state's leading athletes Thursday began arriving in Atlanta for the meet and by starting time today a representative field is expected to be on hand.

Visiting teams are stopping at and being entertained by Tech fraternities.

THAT RELAY.

Chief rivalry this afternoon will center around Boys' High and Tech High in the half-mile relay. The question of supremacy long has been a mooted question and the Purple and Smithies are determined to settle the issue for a time at least.

There will be ten events on the program, in each of which two entries for each team are allowed, as follows:

100-yard dash, 12-pound shot put, 220-yard dash, running broad jump, 120-yard low hurdles, running high jump, 440-yard dash, pole vault, discus throw and half-mile relay race.

STRONG ENTRIES.

Visiting teams must stand off the challenge of these local schools to come in for a share of the honors. For Boys' High, Tech High and G. M. A. have entered strong teams.

Then, too, the rivalry between these schools will be something else again. Each school is out to win as many events as possible, of course. And the resultant competition is bound to be interesting to watch.

Strong squads from Macon, Savannah and other schools are expected. Officials in charge announce that a small admission to help defray expenses will be charged.

Madison Beats G.M.C. Nine, 10-5

MILLEDGEVILLE, April 7.—The Madison Aggies took the opening baseball game of the season here today from the G. M. C. Cadets by the score of 10 to 5.

Wildness of the Cadet pitchers and errors cost them the game. The Aggies used 17 players to stem the tide but without avail. Schleicher and Heath hit home runs. Brannan, veteran pitcher for Coach Wallace Butts' Aggies, was effective in the pinches. The two teams play again Friday.

Score: Madison Aggies... 001 324 600-10 5
G. M. C. Cadets... 080 019 001-5 8 5

Good Fight Card At Austell Tonight

Ed Carter, Atlanta promoter, is putting on a well-balanced boxing card tonight at Austell, beginning at 8 o'clock.

There will be four bouts on the program, which is to be headlined by Billy Wilson and Ernest Belcher.

Tobe Stone battles Jack Wilkes. Roy Dunn meets Willis Black and Skip Kellig takes on Young Huckabuy in the other bouts.

Since Austell is only a 20-minute ride by automobile from Atlanta, Promoter Carter anticipates a large number of fans from Atlanta to augment those from Austell and surrounding towns. There will be approximately 32 rounds of fighting in all.

MAJOR CLUBS TO PLAY SOON; MUCH CHANGED

Almost Every Club Has Different Roster; Game
Has Progressed.

(Copyright, 1932, by the North American Newspaper Alliance, Inc.)
Major league baseball teams have finished another spring training period and are putting on the last touches preparatory to the annual race.

This season the clubs will start with more new faces in the batting order than usual and from some of these youngsters much is expected. On clubs there will be new combinations of men. Brooklyn, for example, will start under a new manager, with new men in the infield, outfield, catching and pitching departments.

Cincinnati will show a changed team. Almost every club has a somewhat different roster.

CHANGED CLUBS.

Yankee fans are likely to see considerable of Crosetti and Saltsaver. Giant rosters will get an eyeful of Koenecke. Chicago enthusiasts will have a chance to cheer for Herman and Hack. The Boston Braves will show Knobe and Akers. Almost every club has a youngster or two who will be around all year.

Before the season is very old there are likely to be still more changes. But it will be the same old game. Since the method for playing it was devised by Abner Doubleday, at Cooperstown, baseball really has changed very little. It always has been a conservative game where changes have been made gradually and only as the growth of the sport demanded them.

The dimensions of the diamond, for example, have remained unaltered. While there are, of course, many milestones which mark baseball's progress, it always has been a game of evolution, rather than of revolution.

FIRST PITCHER.

Robert Addy, of Rockford, is credited with being the first player to steal a base by sliding. And, until Chapman and, in the World Series, Pepper Martin revived it last year, it began to look as if base stealing was about to join the lost arts. Roy Johnson and Frank Frisch are good base stealers. And Reynolds, Irving Burns, Adams, Watkins, Gehrig, Clegg, Bludge, Kamm and a few others are pretty good on the paths.

One of the most important events in the history of baseball occurred in 1878, two years after the National league was organized. It was then that turnstiles were first used. Owners of that day never dreamed that 75,000 customers would pass through turnstiles to see a game. A staff of umpires was first introduced in 1879. The American league was formed in 1900; the cork center ball was introduced in 1909; the rabbit ball arrived in 1920.

As a team, and later as individuals, the old Baltimore Orioles had a tremendous effect on the game. They treated it as a science, and much of the system they introduced has endured to the present day. On that Baltimore club were such men as McGraw, Jennings, Robinson, Keeler and Kelly, who, after they left it, continued to make baseball history. McGraw might manufacture a bit more of it this season.

DOUBLEDAY, SPALDING.

But, taking it by and large, the men who had the greatest influence on baseball probably were the inventor, General Doubleday, and A. G. Spalding, who published its records and was one of its early stars; Charles C. Waite, who introduced the glove; Fred W. Thayer, who invented the mask; Roger Bresnahan, the first catcher to wear shinguards, and Arthur Cummings, who threw the first curve ball.

Without the records, the baseball fanatic would be an unhappy individual, with no concrete foundation upon which to base his argument. Without the glove, the lively baseball of today never could have been. Without the mask, hostilities would be filled with catches and umpires. And the curve ball is one of the things upon which the modern game rests.

Bresnahan came in for a good deal of joshing when he first appeared in shinguards, but they enabled him to boldly block runners at the plate without fear of having his legs cut from under him by knife-like spikes. Today all catchers wear them. But unfortunately, shinguards do not make the catcher. There are few of the caliber of Bresnahan.

Moody To Sail For 3 Tourneys

SAN FRANCISCO, April 7.—(AP) Mrs. Helen Willis Moody announced here tonight she would sail from New York April 27 for Europe to participate in three major tennis tournaments.

Mrs. Moody said she would enter the French hard court championships at Paris May 22 after practicing in the French capital for two weeks. She plans to go to London where it is expected she will play a member of the United States Wightman cup team May 13 and 14. She also will enter the Wimbledon tournament in June.

Prince of Wales Is Beaten, One-Up

LONDON, April 7.—(UP)—The Prince of Wales, hopes for a golf championship ended today when he was defeated 1-up by Surgeon-Captain E. Cameron in the fourth round of the Royal Naval-Royal Marine tournament.

Earlier in the day the prince won his third-round match, eliminating Engineer-Captain J. Ashton, 5 and 3. In both matches the prince, with a low handicap of 11, conceded his opponent two strokes.

Play was over Sunningdale, the prince's home course.

The prince drove well in both matches. His niblick play was poor in the afternoon match, however. The prince reached the turn 2 down to Cameron.

Golden State Wins Feature at Tanforan

TANFORAN, Cal., April 7.—(AP)—The Al Jolson purse, feature horse race here today, was won by Golden State, which paid $78.30 on $5 bettings. Golden Prince was second and Flag Time, the favorite, third. The race was over a course 170 feet less than six furlongs. The time was 1:10.25 seconds.

Long George Kelly Back in 'Big Time'

Brooklyn Fans Recall Feats in World Series of Years Ago.

By Walter Trumbull.

NEW YORK, April 7.—The signing of George Kelly by Brooklyn is of considerable interest to baseball followers in this city. They not only remember him when he played first base for the Giants for seven years, but remember a play he made in a World Series, which was one of the greatest ever made in those post-season games.

Kelly is a nephew of Bill Lange, the old Chicago player, called by Clark Griffith the greatest outfielder he ever saw. When George was with the New York club, he struck out a lot, but he also made a lot of hits and long ones at that.

In 1923, George Kelly made three successive home runs in one game. He made three home runs in another game, the following season. In 1924, he also made seven home runs in six consecutive games.

You may see that Long George was quite a hitter, and he proved, with Minneapolis last season, that he still can sock the ball. He hit for an average of .320, and got 34 doubles, two triples and 21 home runs out of 194 hits.

The coming of Kelly solves Max Carey's third base problem. He now can play Joe Stripp there, with Wright at short, and Cucinello at second. But, unless he puts Bissonette on the voluntary retired list, until his ankle recovers, Carey will have to let go of one more infielder. This will interest some of the other clubs, the infielders are scarce this season and Brooklyn has a flock of pretty good ones.

Baseball is a funny game. There are players sitting on certain benches in the big leagues that other clubs would be glad to have as regulars, but they can't seem to make a deal for them.

There are players in the minors who are better than some in the majors, either sent down by "gentlemanly agreements," or playing with a team owned by a major club which doesn't need a player in that particular position, or because they are overpaid.

A team winning a championship in any of the AA leagues would not finish last in either of the big leagues. After all, major league players are drawn from the minors.

A big league team, for example, may have an infielder with a minor league club who is just as good as the best in the minors. A veteran may have a couple of good

BULLDOGS OFF TO PLAY TIGERS IN NORTH-SOUTH

Georgia Nine Meets Auburn in Dixie League Opener.

ATHENS, Ga., April 7.—Georgia's Bulldogs, the baseball ones, left Athens today for Auburn, where they will open the Dixie College league season tomorrow afternoon against the champion Tigers. The second game of the series will be played Saturday.

Final practice for the Bulldogs was held this afternoon when Coach Bill White sent his squad through a practice game.

Homer Key, diminutive shortstop and lead-off man, will be lost to the Bulldogs when they play Auburn. Key was declared ineligible on the basis of class work for the second term which closed two weeks ago. Aussie Downes, regular third baseman of last season's team, was declared ineligible by the Southern conference after January 1, 1932, while Captain Cliff McGaughey, regular shortstop on last year's team, was lost by graduation. Key played second base last year but was changed to short at the beginning of the present season.

Georgia has won four out of five games played already this season. The Bulldogs defeated Clemson twice, split a two-game series with South Carolina and defeated Madison A. & M. last Saturday.

CRACKERS BEAT HARTFORD, 8 TO 4

Carlisle and he va. touched for the Cracker runs in the first three innings, his departure from the mound in the third being paved by Big Roy Carle's bang out over the right-centerfield fence for a home run with Red Barnes on base. The latter previously had driven Hal Bejia home with a double.

Spencer Hoellman, a youngster brought from Louisville, Ky., by Moore, relieved him and struck out Mock and Rosenthal. Hoellman went along nicely for two innings, but had to be rescued in the fifth by Stamey. The Crackers grabbed two runs in the opening inning. Bobby Goff went safe on Johnny Mann's boot at second, and was pushed third by Bejia's single and scored on Barnes' hoist to Jack Grossman, the Rutgers football star, in left field.

Carlisle punched a single into right, scored Bejia, and then came in on the second on "Rosenthal's" triple and Morrison's hit to left. In the third, Bejia, who was the hitting leader of the day for the Barons, led off with a single. Barnes doubled him home. Then Carlisle did the home run act. The Crackers added another run in each of the fifth and eighth.

The Senators played improved ball after the first change of pitchers but never quite caught up with Morrison's tantalizing curve ball. They got a run in each of the fourth and sixth and scored in for a big inning in the eighth, but four hits netted only two runs.

Bejia and Roy Carlisle did the heaviest clubbing for the Crackers, while Grossman, Vickers Cummings and McGregor, Hartford rookies, made two bingles each for their club. Mann, the second baseman, also got a couple. The Senators outbatted the Crackers, 14 to 11.

Grossman, one of the east's greatest football stars at Rutgers last fall, looks like a good baseball player. In addition to his hitting for Hartford, he robbed Barnes of at least a triple in the sixth with a nice catch of his long drive to left.

The teams met in the second game of the series today at 2 p. m. Red Barron will pitch Runny Hearn, while Moore is expected to work John Kridner, recently turned over to his club by Brooklyn.

Max Rosenfeld, former Cracker, is playing center field for Hartford.

FAVORITES FALL IN NORTH-SOUTH

Hayes and Wilson Are Beaten in Quarter-Final Round.

PINEHURST, N. C., April 7.—(UP)—Two outstanding favorites were eliminated from play in quarter-final matches for the united north and south amateur golf championship today.

Dick Wilson, Southern Pines, N. C., medalist, was ousted by Jim Robbins, Merion, Pa., member of the Merion Cricket Club, 3 and 2, after the Pennsylvanian had taken a three-hole lead going out and halved six succeeding holes. Robbins, captain of the 1926 Princeton golf club, was out in par 35 in the first nine holes.

Halbert J. Blue, Aberdeen, N. C., ousted the Yale star, Sidney Noyes, Dobbs Ferry, N. Y., in another upset match, one up in 19 holes. It was the first extra-hole match of the tournament. Noyes' 18-hole score was 76 as compared to 77 for Blue. Blue had been down two going to the 6th to take the match at the extra hole.

Forbes K. Wilson, York Harbor, Maine, another Yale star, was eliminated by the veteran J. B. Ryerson, of Cooperstown, N. Y., one up. Ryerson was trailing three holes down with four to play. He came back with a birdie on the 15th par on the 16th hole and birdies on the 17th and 18th holes to win four holes in a row and the match.

The all-Yale team match between M. P. Warner, Pine Orchard, Conn., and a friend, Otto Pietre, the well-known German bicycle rider, who may pace the champion on his road work. Schmeling left New York, January 22, immediately after the contract for the championship battle was signed. While in Germany he has been taking daily workouts at his estate in Bar Saarow, just outside Berlin. He called Jacobs that he has no injuries and is in great shape.

Proteus To Carry 126 in Memorial

BOWIE, Md., April 8.—(UP)—Proteus, which A. C. Bostwick bought for $25,000, as a two-year-old last summer to be his silk in the Preakness and Kentucky Derby, is assigned top weight of 126 pounds for the six furlong memorial handicapped $5,000 feature race here Saturday. Walter J. Salmon's Air Pilot, holder of the five furlong track record, is next in line with 122, and Phantom Legion must carry 121 pounds. There are 24 eligible 3-year-olds.

No More Piles

You Can End Your Awful Misery
Quick Without Cutting or Salves

Thousands of Pile sufferers do not know that the cause of Piles is internal—bad circulation of blood in the lower bowel.

That is the scientific truth about Piles—the real reason why salves and suppositories do not give permanent relief, why cutting does not remove the cause. Your itching, bleeding or protruding Piles will only go when you actually remove the cause—and not one minute before. External treatments can't do this—an internal medicine should be used. HEM-ROID, the prescription of Dr. J. S. Leonard, sold by good druggists everywhere, succeeds because it stimulates the circulation, drives out congested blood, heals and restores the almost dead parts.

Dr. Leonard's HEM-ROID has an almost unbelievable record of success right in this city. So why waste time on external remedies or worry about an operation when Jacobs Drug Stores invites every Pile sufferer to try HEM-ROID with guarantee of money-back if it does not cure their Piles, no matter how stubborn the case?—(adv.)

MAX TO ARRIVE TODAY TO BEGIN TRAINING WORK

Heavyweight Champion
Meets Jack Sharkey for Title in June.

By Jack Cuddy.

NEW YORK, April 7.—(UP)—Herr Max Schmeling, welterweight of the heavyweight schlagers, will arrive tomorrow aboard the New Yorker from Deutschland to begin preparations for his June title fight with terrible American fighting man, Jack Sharkey.

In an effort to spike the thunder of the arriving Teuton, Mr. Sharkey called from Boston and announced that he was setting forth tomorrow upon an expedition into the wilds of Maine where he would commune with nature and wrestle with the elusive sagman, Naples in his destination.

Schmeling's manager, Joe Jacobs, has selected Green Kili lodge, two miles outside Kingston, N. Y., for the champion's training camp. But Sharkey said he had not decided upon his camp yet.

"ONLY MAX."

"What's the rush?" he inquired pleasantly. "I'm not fighting Dempsey this time. It's only Schmeling. Plenty of time yet. I'll probably be working out at Gus Wilson's, Orangeburg, N. Y., or at Pompton Lake, N. J., about the end of May."

The pride of Cabotville admitted modestly he was in such good shape that he "could take Schmeling right now."

Schmeling will spend three days in New York regaining his land legs, and then pull out for Toronto, where he is scheduled for an exhibition Monday night. Then he will rest for a couple of days at Virginia Beach, Va., before beginning his exhibition tour, at Norfolk, April 13. His tour will wind up at Evansville, Ind., April 29. He will take another rest with his friend, Tom Taggart, in French Lick Springs, Ind., before starting training at Green Kili lodge about May 10.

WEIGHS 200.
Jacobs said Schmeling weighed about 200 pounds, and would enter the ring at Yankee stadium, New York, on June 16, at about 194 or 195. Sharkey informed that he tipped the scales now at 210 and would climb through the ropes at about 200. This will give the pride of Boston about a five-pound advantage. Some believe he could use more.

Herr Max sailed from Cuxhaven, Germany, March 31. He is accompanied by his trainer, Max Machon, and a friend, Otto Pietre, the well-known German bicycle rider, who may pace the champion on his road work.

Schmeling left New York, January 22, immediately after the contract for the championship battle was signed. While in Germany he has been taking daily workouts at his estate in Bar Saarow, just outside Berlin. He called Jacobs that he has no injuries and is in great shape.

Max Will Train At Greenville

NEW YORK, April 7.—(AP)—Max Schmeling will train for his heavyweight title defense against Jack Sharkey at Greenville lodge, two miles from Kingston, N. Y., his manager, Joe Jacobs, announced today.

Old Master

BILL TILDEN.

TILDEN SLATED TO PLAY GERMAN

Old Master Coming Here
Saturday With Tennis Troupe.

He was the best of them all as an amateur and he enjoys that rating in the professional ranks, does Bill Tilden, the elongated star of the tennis courts, who reappears in Atlanta Saturday in exhibitions on the No. 1 outdoor court at the Atlanta Tennis Club at 2:30 o'clock.

Approximately 2,000 seats have been placed around the court. Seats facing east are reserved and admission to them is $1.50. General admission is $1. The court drains easily and the exhibitions will be held in the event of rain Saturday morning.

The exhibitions have taken on added interest with the announcement that Hans Nusslein, the young German tennis professional, who is a member of Tilden's troupe, recently defeated Big Bill in straight sets at Memphis.

Nusslein uses one definite method of play and he turned back Tilden by the scores of 7-5 and 9-7. His systematic style pleased a large and enthusiastic audience.

Other members of Tilden's troupe are Albert Burke, famous Irish professional, who holds the French championship, and Roman Najuch, Czechoslovakian professional champion, Czech, fourth ranking player in the foursome, recently defeated Bruce Barnes, the young Texan who beat Bryan Grant twice last year.

Tilden probably will play a singles exhibition with Nusslein here. And there will be other singles and doubles matches.

The Atlanta club courts are on Arzonne avenue just off Ponce de Leon.

N.G.I.C. LEADERS FACING TESTS IN GAMES TODAY

Three Games Are Booked
Here; Marietta Plays at Gainesville.

	Won.	Lost.	Pct.
Commercial	2	0	1.000
Decatur	2	0	1.000
Fulton	2	0	1.000
Russell	2	0	1.000
Gainesville	0	2	.000
Marietta	0	2	.000
University	0	2	.000
Marietta	0	2	.000

Rivalry for first place in the North Georgia interscholastic conference will be put to another test today when third-round games will be played.

At the present time four teams—Commercial, Decatur, Fulton and Russell—are tied for league leadership with two victories apiece. Gainesville, Marietta, University and Marietta have yet to break into the win column.

Three of today's games will be played here, while the fourth will be played away.

Russell and Marietta, meeting on the Marietta diamond, will each be out to win its first game in the league, and a fast contest is promised.

Decatur and Commercial, playing at Commercial high school, will, however, endeavor to maintain clean slates, and since that isn't possible for both clubs a keen battle is in prospect.

University plays Fulton on the U. S. B. diamond and University will make determined efforts to win its first game and at the same time dump Fulton into the ranks of the defeated.

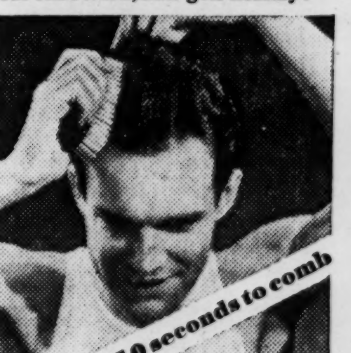

The only out-of-town game sees Marietta and Gainesville, each out to a victory, striving to gain the ranks of the favored in the Gainesville ball park.

Margaret Maddox Meets Mrs. Hill Today in Sedgelyield Finals

ATLANTA CHAMP BEATS SOLOMON IN SEMI-FINALS

Georgia Champion To Play Winner of Last Year's Tourney.

SEDGELYIELD COUNTRY CLUB, GREENSBORO, N. C., April 7.—(AP) Mrs. Opal S. Hill, of Kansas City, Mo., the western champion, and Miss Margaret Maddox, of Atlanta, the Georgia champion, vanquished their respective opponents by decisive scores in the semi-final round today of the annual Dogwood golf tournament, and tomorrow they will play for the title, which Mrs. Hill won last year.

Mrs. Hill won her way to the finals by defeating Mrs. J. J. Lawlor, of New Rochelle, N. Y., 5 and 4, while Miss Maddox advanced by virtue of a 6 and 2 victory over another champion, Mrs. Leon Solomon, of Memphis, the Tennessee titleholder.

The Kansas City star had a one-hole lead at the turn. She won the 10th and 11th, halved the 12th, and then annexed the 13th and 14th to end the match.

In the other semi-final, Miss Maddox was 3 up at the turn. She made it 4 up by winning the 10th, but dropped the 11th. The next two holes were halved, but Miss Maddox took the 14th and 15th to earn her victory.

THE LAST FIGHT.

He could not understand— Why should his breathing be so hard and drawn? Where was the punch he once held in each hand, The winning punch propelled by brain and brawn? Why to his eyes should come that growing haze, Leaving a blur he had not known before? Where was the wallop of the vanished days? The knockout wallop he had held in store?

What was it all about? The heavy thumping of his weary heart— The dulled and muffled roar—the sudden shout— The aching arms that would not do their part? Here was the chance at last to rise and show Who ruled as master of the bitter fray; Here was the chance—but what grip turned the blow Into a tap a child might ward away?

And then, at last, he knew: For even as he sagged and crumpled up, And falling from far heights, forever through, Drank to the final dregs the bitter cup, In that one dash of pain he met the truth That struck at him with raw fangs buried deep— Where from lost years the mocking voice of youth Counted the final ten above his sleep.

Training Lessons.

Phar Lap's great record after passing the earlier period of his racing career is further proof that younger race horses should not be crowded with too much competition. He was brought along slowly where so many fine two-year-olds are cracked up or weakened by too much racing in their younger days.

No attempt was made to overwork Australia's great horse in this fashion. He got his chance to develop along natural lines. As far as one can measure any future, within another year Phar Lap would have broken all records as a money-winner, with something to spare.

This matter of not overworking younger years applies to the human as well as to the horse. The case of Gene Venzke is a perfect example. While Venzke had done a lot of long-distance running, he had known little competition before he was 20. Conditions were such that he could not afford to be in school at a time when hard competition might have burned away part of his stamina. As a result within less than a year Venzke came from running obscurity to a mile in 4.10, a faster mile than even Norml ever ran.

The early years of any competitor should be watched with extreme care. They should belong to form and training, not to hard competition. There is always plenty of time on ahead when it is easy enough to burn out a young runner—human or horse. This has happened to more than one fine-looking, two-year-old runner, and to more than one promising track star. Nearly all great marathon runners have been older men. Clarence De Mar was at his best well after he had passed 30.

The same is true of Stenroos, who won the 1924 marathon in Paris. Stamina is a vital factor in running and stamina must be given its time.

B'ar Hunter Wins In Jackson Trophy

BOWIE, Md., April 7.—(AP)—E. R. Bradley's green and white silks were carried to their first victory of the meeting aboard Bar Hunter in the Mayor Howard W. Jackson Trophy today.

The four-year-old son of Black Servant, which performed at New Orleans during the winter season, stepped 1:14.16 miles in 1:48 flat to defeat Ed Houghton's Wotan, another Crescent City performer, by four lengths. R. H. New's Frumper was third, another two lengths to the rear. Well supported in the nutcracker, Bar Hunter returned $9.40, $4.20 and $3.30 across the board.

Mrs. Baer Leaves To 'Shake Up' Max

OAKLAND, Cal., April 7.—(AP)—Max Baer, heavyweight boxer, disclosed today that his actress wife, Dorothy Wells Dunbar Baer, had left him, but he insisted her departure was "not for keeps."

"She went away to shake me into my senses and to make a real fighter out of me," he said. "I cut up a bit and it wore her out trying to take care of my affairs. We love each other too much for a permanent separation. She'll be home within six weeks."

The Baers were married at Reno last July shortly after he lost a decision to Paulino Uzcudun in a 20-round bout. It was her fourth marriage.

PHILS CAPTURE CITY TITLE, 3-2; FOXX HITS ONE

Grove, Earnshaw and Walberg Pitch for League Champs.

PHILADELPHIA, April 7.—(AP)—The Philadelphia Nationals put the city series championship in their bag today by defeating the Athletics, 3 to 2, in a ten-inning game.

With one game to be played, the series stands at three victories for the Phils and one for the A's. The Phils have thus taken the city series for three straight years.

Jimmy Foxx had a homer for the A's and Leslie Mallon duplicated the trick for the Phils. With the score tied at 2 to 2 in the tenth, Rube Walberg was nicked for the deciding tally by Bartell when he singled and advanced to third on a sacrifice. He scored on Mallon's hit to left field. The A's "Big Three"—Grove, Earnshaw and Walberg—allowed the Phils nine hits. Collins and Grabowski gave the A's the same number.

Philadelphia (N.Y.) 000 000 1-3 9 0 Philadelphia (A.) 010 001 000 0-2 9 2 Collins, Grabowski and Davis; Grove, Earnshaw, Walberg and Cochran.

HACK SWATS TWO.

NORFOLK, Va., April 7.—(AP)—Hack Wilson, playing only three innings, hit two home runs as the Brooklyn Dodgers defeated Norfolk, 13 to 4, in their final southern exhibition game today. Tomorrow they open a three-game series with the Yankees at Ebbets field.

Wilson connected with his homers in the second and third innings, driving in four runs. Four Norfolk errors helped the Dodgers as they pounded out 17 hits off Henry Gramp and Herb Brett. Pea Ridge Day, Phil Galtivo and Cy Moore held the Eastern leaguers to seven blows.

Brooklyn (N.Y.) 042 300 004-13 17 1 Norfolk (E.L.) 001 100 011-4 7 4 Day, Moore and Sakefor; Gramp, Galtivo, Brett and Minatre.

BROWNS 6; VOLS 3.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., April 7.—(AP)—The St. Louis Browns counted 10 runs in the sixth inning of their final spring exhibition game with Nashville here today and then the game was rained out, the St. Louis team winning, 6 to 3.

The Browns left for St. Louis to night to prepare for the opening of the two-game city series with the Cardinals, opening Saturday. St. Louis (A.) 000 000 110 04-6 7 1 St. Louis (N.Y.) 000 200 000-3 6 7 Herbert and Bengough, Young; Simmons and Babe.

St. Louis made 10 runs in the first half of the sixth inning, but lost them when the game was halted by rain and reverted to even innings.

CUBS, BLUES.

KANSAS CITY, April 7.—(AP)—Wet grounds forced the Chicago Cubs and Kansas City Blues to cancel the first game of their final tune-up series today, the first time this spring that Rogers Hornsby's men have been rained out.

"Everything looks fine, but we must have more batting punch," the Rajah said later.

WHITE SOX.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 7.—(AP)—Rain stepped in to save the Chicago White Sox from what looked like a second straight defeat, the likes of the Louisville Colonels today.

The Colonels were leading, 4 to 3, with "Sad Sam" Jones as their pitching victim when rain stopped the game at the start of the third inning.

GIANTS 5; TIGERS 4.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., April 7.—(AP)—Bunching four of their seven hits with an error to score all of their runs in the sixth inning, the New York Giants defeated the Detroit Tigers, 5 to 4, today.

Ethan Allen featured the sixth-inning attack with a home run off

Dixie Youths Favored Today

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., April 7.—(AP)—Some of the nation's best collegiate boxers were warming up here tonight for the national Olympic tryouts.

Penn State's training quarters in Recreation hall, where the bouts will start tomorrow, was monopolized by the visitors as they loosened up muscles stiff from long train trips.

The boxers must make within half a pound of their class weights at 9 a. m. tomorrow. Fifteen preliminary bouts are scheduled for 2 p. m., and at least 25 for the second preliminary round at 7 p. m.

The semi-final round is scheduled for Saturday afternoon and the finals Saturday night.

Representatives of Tulane, Louisiana State, Florida, Mississippi and South Carolina arrived tonight and others are expected early tomorrow.

Chandler Page, Mississippi's 160-pound champion; Felton Gentry, Virginia heavyweight; and Doyle Hill, Virginia heavyweight, who took the Southern conference title, were among those the local dopsters expect to go far in the tourney who were in the gym today.

Helen Jacobs Off To Tour Europe 'Gator Netters

At Emory Today

BERKELEY, Cal., April 7.—(AP)—Miss Helen Jacobs, announced today she would leave here next Tuesday for Berlin, Germany, to begin an invasion of European tennis courts.

Miss Jacobs said she planned to participate in the German championships next month, and probably would be in Europe about 60 days. She was not sure what other tournaments she would enter.

Tilden Is Beaten By Hans Nusslein

COLUMBUS, Ga., April 7.—(AP)—Big Bill Tilden, American No. 1 seeded professional tennis player, took a drubbing in both the singles and doubles exhibition matches here today.

Hans Nusslein, European pro champion, defeated Tilden 2-6, 6-1, 6-2 in the singles matches, while Tilden and Albert Burke went down to defeat in the doubles at the hands of Nusslein and Roman Najuch, 8-6, 6-0. Burke defeated Najuch in the other singles match 7-5, 1-6, 6-4.

Bill Sorrell, his hit was followed by successive doubles by Moore and Hogan and a single by Terry.

Bill Walker was pounded hard in the early innings and was finally driven from the mound in the seventh. Herman Bell shut the Tigers out in the last two frames.

Detroit (A.) 010 002 100-4 7 1 New York (N.Y.) 000 000 000-5 7 4 Sorrell, Bridges and Ruel; Snel; Walker, Bell and Hogan.

REDS 2; INDIANS 8.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., April 7.—(AP)—The Indians of the American association defeated the National League Reds of Cincinnati, 8 to 2, this afternoon.

The Indians, playing a dashing game, took the lead in the first inning and never let go. St. Johnson, pitching for the Reds, weakened in the eighth and the Indians ran in four tallies. His fielding support was poor. Cincinnati (A.) 000 010 100-2 2 Indianapolis (A.) 100 020 000-8 10 0 Johnson and Manion; Barnhart and Angley.

CLEVELAND 4; NOOGA 3.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., April 7.—(AP)—A triple play and some effective pitching by Sarge Connally and Lefty Lee spoiled Chattanooga's fast start and gave the Cleveland Indians a 4-to-3 victory over the Southern association club here today.

Pete Jablonowski was hammered for three runs in the first three innings but Connally and Lee gave Chattanooga little to choose from thereafter. Cleveland (A.) 010 020 010-4 11 2 Chattanooga (S.A.) 021 000 000-3 7 0 Jablonowski, Connally, Lee and Sewell; Liska and Bolton.

BRAVES 10; NAT 9.

WASHINGTON, April 7.—(AP)—The Boston Braves pounded big Fred Marberry all over the lot today, nailing him for 13 hits in five innings to defeat the Washington Nationals, 10 to 9.

Alvin Crowder held the Braves to two hits in four innings, while the Senators, with 16 safeties, found Zachary and Brandt for eight each. Maranville and Hargrave each slammed out three hits, with Kerr lagging one offering for a three-bagger.

Boston (N.Y.) 042 031 000-10 15 1 Washington (N.Y.) 042 012 000-9 16 2 Zachary, Brandt, Hargrave; Marberry, Crowder and Spencer, Berg.

REDBIRDS 8; YANKS 4.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, April 7.—(AP)—Lefty Gomez weakened in the ninth inning and the Columbus Redbirds, of the American association, won their second straight game from the New York Yankees today. The score was 8 to 4.

The Yankees, led by Sam Byrd, went into the ninth leading by two runs. Pat Crawford, former Giant player, hit the first ball for a home run. Three singles and a base on balls with the bases full accounted for the tying and winning runs.

Byrd connected with another home run and batted .500 for the day. The defeat left the Yankees with an exhibition record of 15 victories and 8 defeats.

New York (A.) 000 000 120-4 6 0 Columbus (A.A.) 009 029 002-8 11 1 Gomez and Jorgens; Dean, Beckman and Bena.

PANTHERS 10; BUCS 9.

FORT WORTH, Texas, April 7.—(AP)—The Fort Worth club of the Texas league, hammered out 20 hits today and downed the Pittsburgh Pirates, 10 to 9, in 10 innings.

Floyd Vaughan, sensational young shortstop, was notified tonight that he has been transferred from the Tulsa team to the Pirates. He signed his contract.

KEY PROCLAIMS HALF-HOLIDAY ON OPENING DAY

Mayor Lends Aid in Jaycee Drive for Opening Crowd.

With a view of lending civic support to the Junior Chamber of Commerce's drive for a crowd of 20,000 here on the opening day of the Southern league next Thursday, Mayor James L. Key yesterday proclaimed a half-holiday for that day.

The mayor's proclamation follows: "To whom it may concern: "A half-holiday is hereby proclaimed for the city of Atlanta beginning with 1 o'clock p. m. Thursday, April 14, 1932.

"This is done in recognition of an appreciation of the opening of the baseball season for the year 1932. At that time all the heads of the departments of the city of Atlanta are hereby directed to allow such of the employees to avail themselves of this holiday in so far as it does not affect the public service. The people of Atlanta are requested to observe as fully as can be this half-holiday, and all employers are requested to allow their employees to avail themselves of this half-holiday without harm or injury to their business.

"Baseball is a great sport, and appeals to the spirit of our people. It is more than a business. It is an institution, and we welcome the return of this occasion with positive joy in the hearts of every sport loving person.

"Many thanks are due to the Junior Chamber of Commerce for their activities in making this a great day, one that is becoming to the people of Atlanta and to the great sport which they thus celebrate.

"Respectfully submitted, "JAMES L. KEY, Mayor."

The No. 1 team in the doubles includes West and Conny; No. 2, Tindar and Robertson; No. 3, Morgan and Jackson, and No. 4, Maynard and Rivers.

Florida, coached by Dutch Stanley, has a good team this year.

Gene's Buddy Names TUNNEY, HALEY WENT A. W. O. L. TOGETHER Girl for Ex-Champion

ROCHESTER, N. Y., April 7.—(AP)—Truck Driver Louis "Kid" Haley has a baby girl he named for Gene Tunney, because he and Tunney, as marines in the World War, once went A. W. O. L. together in France.

Gene Alma Haley was born five months ago, but the former heavyweight champion didn't learn about it until last night, when Tunney addressed a Knights of Columbus gathering here. After his speech, Tunney invited his audience to ask questions.

"Do you remember the chap who went A. W. O. L. with you in Best?" the "Kid" called out.

The former champion grinned broadly. "I certainly do. It was 'Kid' Haley," he answered.

"Bring that man right up here!" Tunney was gleeful, almost bouncing with anticipation. There was a sharp contrast in their appearance, Tunney immaculate in dinner clothes, Haley in spotty trousers and lumberman's jacket.

Newspapermen found Haley today as he maneuvered his truck into a shed. Haley told this story: "We were at the Napoleonic barracks. It was a French holiday and general orders went out not to leave camp. Tunney was all for going into town. I was game. A truck came along and we jumped on and kept out of sight until we were clear of camp.

"We saw the sights. Tunney didn't drink or smoke, but boy, how he liked to eat.

"I knew my old clothes wouldn't make any difference last night. Tunney is not high hat."

"I didn't want to tell him at first that we named our baby after him," he confessed. "I had hoped it would be a boy."

George Lott Loses Match to Youth

NEW ORLEANS, April 7.—(AP)—George Lott, No. 2 in the national tennis rankings, was defeated, 6-4, 8-6, today by Frank Parker, 16-year-old United States boys' singles champion, in an invitation tennis tournament at Tulane University.

NEW YORK, April 7.—(AP)—Although shorts did some repurchasing in the early and late trading, today's stock market was unable to find incentive for a real rally, and prices closed lower for the seventh successive session.

Weakness in utilities and a number of specialties and a feeble market for many preferred shares provided familiar aspects of the current decline.

Rails, however, experienced some relief from pressure and several industrial stocks were steadier. A rally in the last half-hour reduced most losses of 1 to 4 points and gave a few leaders small net advances. Sales totaled 1,704,217 shares.

Covering after the opening may have been caused in part by overnight disclosure that the short position, even after allowance had been made for hedging sales in Krueger & Toll, was enabling the market to maintain a relatively strong technical position which would be helpful later on.

But expectations that both the unflinching statement of United States Steel and the March sales figures of General Motors, soon to appear, would be discouraging commodities on business, brought a letdown which was unrelieved until another moderate technical rally developed in the last half-hour.

American Can weakened early, breaking to 52 1/2, the lowest since 1927, and making only partial recovery for a 2-point net loss. United States Steel went to 34 1/2, closing nearly a point higher.

Rails moved narrowly, although there was a late 1-point sag in Canadian Pacific.

Prospects of an immediate adjournment of the four-power conference on southeastern Europe's economic problems caused some uneasiness here, for Danubian affairs have been regarded as in a rather critical state.

Strength of French francs against the dollar, forcing gold shipments to Paris just as the Bank of France was reporting a small decrease in gold holdings, was another interesting development with a foreign angle.

The weekly statement of the federal reserve system reflected month-end operations, but revealed that the central banks were continuing their government securities purchases, which had added more than $13,000,000 of these issues to their portfolio.

Bankers attributed the $10,000,000 rise in circulation to seasonal influences coincident with the turn in the month. Reserve bank credit expanded $12,000,000.

LONDON.—After some hesitancy gilt-edged match and industrial issues improved but later reacted with institutional issues and closed unsettled. Argentine rails were firm on announcement by Central Argentine of a 2 per cent dividend on the 4 per cent preferred stock.

PARIS.—Prices on the bourse declined in a heavy market. The closing tone was heavy.

BERLIN.—Private discount rates dropped an eighth to 34 per cent, indicating that a further reduction by the Reichsbank of one-half per cent in the discount rate would be announced tomorrow. The drop, however, failed to stem the weakness of prices on the bourse, which closed fractionally, to 3 points lower.
